

THE first symptom that President Coolidge is a candidate for re-election is reported. C. Bascom Sloop, former Secretary, has started South, apparently on the errand of rounding up Southern delegates, which is his specialty. Any incumbent President can get those delegates, if he sends the right man and does it first. In the usual course, it is the first step. And, since every Republican since the Civil war has done it, if he was a candidate for re-election or was interested in a candidate, it would be hypocritical to censure President Coolidge if he does the same thing.

*****

BUT the whole system is wrong. These Southern delegates represent nothing and nobody. Nobody elects them and nobody is responsible for them. In most of their states there is no Republican party, and they are the chief obstacle to forming one. They prefer to be the officers of an army without privates. They seek nothing from their own people, and they want no one to dispute their control of what they get from Washington. They are not a credit to the Republican party, in their local manipulations, and once in four years they are its chief scandal, in the National convention. They should be got rid of, unless they bestir themselves to get a party to represent.

REPEATED attempts have been made to free the Republican party of this incubus. If the effort in 1908 had succeeded, the split of 1912 would not have come, and Theodore Roosevelt instead of Woodrow Wilson would have been President of the United States. After that, the National Committee stayed off a thorough-going reform in the next convention by slipping through an inadequate one of its own. The scandal of controlling Republican nominations by the votes of delegates who represent no Republican party, and are themselves irresponsible self-seekers, still continues. Next year, especially if there is no serious contest and no one has anything to lose, would be a good time to bring about the long-delayed reform. If any Southern states want more than a nominal representation in Republican conventions, let them get a Republican party to be represented.

GANNA WALSKA, who has been more successful in her matrimonial than in her operative vocation, is reported as planning to open a beauty parlor in Paris in partnership with Dr. Serge Voronoff, monkey-gland rejuvenation specialist.

Ganna will be the most important member of the firm. With cosmetics and creams and massage and face packs, she can really make people look younger. Dr. Serge and his monkeys will have a harder task making them actually younger. If the calamity of perpetual youth is ever to descend on the earth, Dr. Voronoff has not qualified to be its prophet. You can disguise people into looking younger and bluff them into feeling younger, but you can not operate them into being younger.

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE" announces its sixth year in New York, playing every night and two matinees all that time in the same theater, with the same company. How those actors must hate it by this time! Think of playing the same part, in the same play, three thousand times in succession without stop! It is enough to make an actor forget his lines, from sheer monotonous iteration. One would feel like a well-worn phonograph record, beginning to scratch.

Yet this "run," breaking all records is a real tribute to American democracy. Here is a play which the highbrows refuse to consider at all. It is neither profound nor subtle, but merely a simple and wholesome story, vividly told. In a city whose theaters have peddled filth until even the New York police could stand it no more, the greatest success of all time has been this clean and decent play. If the box-office standard is to "give the people what they want"—here, by actual box-office test, is what they want.

"THE world is in no particular danger of being overburdened in the near future by an aristocracy of brains," said Dr. John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, at Honolulu.

Decidedly not! Probably no one of us, individually, has ever found himself with any more brains than he needed, and the world at large has always suffered from a poverty of brains; never from a plethora. As the human race is made, it is never likely to have brains to spare.

*****

THE real tragedy is in not using even the little brains we have. Look at Illinois, one of the best states in the union, with as many intelligent people in it as any state has. These intelligent people must realize that one of the most important responsibilities of Illinois is its government. There, if anywhere, at least some of the intelligence and character of Illinois should be utilized. Yet Illinois has as Governor Len Small, who is still out of jail; as Senator, Col. Frank Smith, whom the Senate has not yet expelled; and as Mayor of Chicago, "Big Bill" Thompson, who has not yet done his worst. This is the state of Lincoln, Douglas, Grant, Logan, Ogelsby, Cullom, Lowden, and the long series of others who have reflected always credit and sometimes glory on its name. From Abraham Lincoln to Big Bill—what a fall!

(By United Press)
PETALUMA, Calif., April 20.—With two victims killed during a mad rampage of gunfire, John Failla, 72, crazed recluse, was slain here today by officers who surrounded his barricaded house.

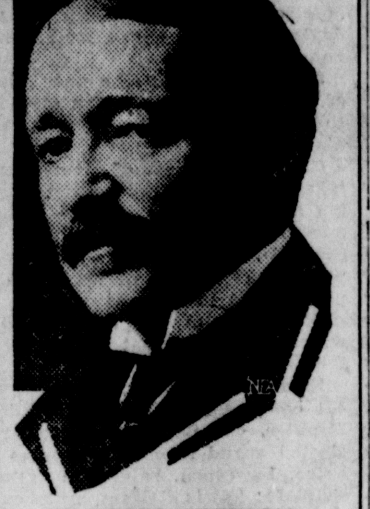

Two machine guns, belonging to Company M, of the California National Guard, were called into action in the attack.

One was stationed across the street in front of the residence and Capt. J. C. Schuster, of Company M, handled the weapon, pouring a rain of lead into the house and through the windows.

The other, at the rear, was handled by First Sgt. Frank Healy, who riddled that end of the house.

Preceding the well aimed bullet which pierced Failla's heart, fired by an officer crouched behind a tree and sighting through a window, the crazed man earlier killed a citizen on a down-town street and an officer in the posse trying to arrest him.

Threatened

CHARLES M'VEAGH
TOKIO, April 20.—Arrest of a Japanese student who had threatened to assassinate U. S. Ambassador Charles M'Veagh, was announced today by the police. The student apparently was insane and was said by the police to have threatened to destroy the embassy as well as to kill M'Veagh. His grievance seemed to be against the United States for bringing some sort of imaginary pressure against Japan. The student was arrested several days ago.

STAMPEDE OF BILLS

Mad Scramble On to Jam Legislation Through at Session's Eleventh Hour

(By United Press)
SACRAMENTO, April 20.—The biennial stampede of bills has begun in the California legislature. With only two days remaining in which members can get measures adopted by their own houses, the mad scramble to jam legislation through at the eleventh hour opened today in all its fury.

Next week, by joint agreement, each house works on bills of the upper house. The senate files were fairly clear last night and the upper house even had time in its closing hours yesterday to work on a number of assembly bills, giving them final passage.

What may develop into a live issue during the dying hours of the session is an investigation carried on by a self-appointed legislative committee which studied the water situation in Owens Valley Inyo county, during the last week end.

This committee, after listening to testimony from valley and Los Angeles representatives for more than seven hours yesterday, decided to continue the hearing today, with a possible view of introducing resolutions to the legislature calling for a more thorough study of the complaints of Owens valley farmers.

Declaring that the city of Los Angeles has not dealt fairly with Owens valley, Senator J. M. Inman, of Sacramento, told the committee:

"I have seen that valley when it was one of the most beautiful places in California and I have seen it in its present condition, which is pitiful. Los Angeles has said it intends to return the valley to its former condition, but it intends to return it to the coyote, the Indian and the jackrabbit."

The first of some 40 bills remaining of the crime commission's program trickled through the assembly and went to the governor for signature. These provided that a judge must approve bail bonds, permitted a defendant five days to prepare for a trial after making his plea, instead of two days as at present, made acceptance of a bribe by a city or county officer a felony and changed laws relative to grand jury indictments.

A permanent crime commission, calling for an appropriation of $75,000 for expenses, was provided under a bill by Senator C. C. Baker, of Salinas, adopted by the senate. The commission would continue the work started by the group which proposed the present changes in the criminal code. It would consist of seven members appointed by Governor Young.

HOMES AND BUSINESS BUILDINGS REDUCED TO MASS OF WRECKAGE BY VICIOUS WINDS

Wreckage was strewn all over the landscape yesterday, when a series of twisters struck a dozen different places in central Illinois, as this picture shows. Many lives were lost and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of damage done when the cyclonic winds swept through the state. Homes of thousands were destroyed when the tornadoes twisted them into unrecognizable heaps.

Thousands Made Homeless When Tornado Strikes in Dozen Different Places

100 BELIEVED INJURED

Springfield, Carrollton and Lincoln Are Now Centers Of Rescue, Relief Work

(By United Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 20.—Central Illinois today had contributed at least 23 lives and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property to the elements which are terrifying rural districts of the midwest.

Cyclonic winds swept a path from the outskirts of St. Louis to Springfield late yesterday. The tornado struck in a dozen places and homes of thousands were destroyed.

Although lack of wire communications have hampered gathering of accurate information, reports here show 19 are dead in the area and it is estimated 100 are injured. Many of them are in Springfield hospitals.

Expect More Casualties
Restoration of wire facilities is expected to reveal additional casualties.

Springfield, Carrollton and Lincoln, Ill., were centers of rescue work today. Injured and dead were taken to those places when possible. Many of the homeless are being cared for in those towns also.

Weather observers declared today the Illinois cyclone was a continuation of destructive winds which swept northern Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, a few days ago.

Anna Keller, 25, a school teacher, was killed when the storm flattened her country school building at Centerville. Many of her 32 pupils were injured and some may have been killed.

30,000 HOMELESS AS RESULT OF FLOODS
ST. LOUIS, April 20.—The element-torn Mississippi basin today struggled toward relief for thousands of refugees made homeless by combined cyclones and flood waters.

Upwards of 30,000 persons have been forced from their farm homes and at least two score persons killed as result of overflowing rivers and a series of death dealing winds.

The property damage has been tremendous.

Rivers through the district today continued at flood stage and several towns were threatened. New Madrid, Mo., is virtually deserted, owing to a break in the levee while Beardstown, Ill., just recovering from disastrous flood waters of last fall—again is threatened.

Climaxing a week of terror for residents along the Mississippi and tributary rivers, yesterday morning tornadoes and driving rainstorms doing additional damage through the plain country.

Many Cities in Path
Almost a score of small cities were in the path of two tornadoes which ripped through Illinois. From Riverton, Carrollton, Pulaaski, Wrights, Woodville, Chestnut, Lincoln, Quincy, Galesburg, Rockford, Centralia, Vandalia and other sections this morning came reports of damage from high winds.

Early reports indicated at least 23 persons had been killed. Some of the wind victims were school children who were pinned to the ground when the heavy winds demolished their school houses.

The high winds were general throughout Illinois and parts of Iowa yesterday, but reached their greatest force in central Illinois, reports show. Trees were torn down, telegraphic communication disrupted and many houses wrecked.

As reports of the new disaster trickled in today, the spectre of flood chaos grew more terrifying.

At New Madrid, Mo., a powerful levee gave way and an avalanche of water swept in on the little agricultural town. Almost every resident was forced to flee the town and only a handful of workers remained.

Financier, Nearing His 93rd Birthday, Gives Annual Interview

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, April 20.—On Saturday another year will have been added to the 92 in the life of Chauncey M. Depew, financier and former U. S. senator.

Today he sat in his office at the New York Central railroad's headquarters here and gave his annual interview, revealing that since he greeted the newspapermen a year ago, only slight change has come into make-up of the man who rapidly is becoming one of America's revered institutions.

Looking at it from the viewpoint of his 93rd birthday, he believes:

That if Calvin Coolidge runs against Al Smith for president, Calvin Coolidge will win.

That prohibition is here to stay.

That people who read about the Ruth Brown Snyder-Henry Judd Gray murder trial "are hard up to occupy their time."

That there is less prejudice against the Catholic church now than when he was a boy.

That people are more interested

INDICTMENT OF ALLEGED FIST SLAYER SOUGHT

Results of Probe in Death Of Actor to Be Laid Before Jury

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, April 20.—An indictment charging Paul Kelly, popular film juvenile, with the alleged "bare knuckle murder" of Ray Raymond, musical comedy star, will be sought here today before the county grand jury, the district attorney's office announced.

Both Kelly, who is being held on a suspicion charge, and Dorothy Mackaye actress-wife of the slain man, will be called before the grand jury to substantiate charges that Raymond died from injuries suffered in a fist encounter with Kelly Saturday night.

Autopsy This Afternoon
An autopsy will be performed this afternoon over Raymond's body, which lay in the morgue here, still bearing evidence of the terrible beating, which, police say, Kelly admitted having administered.

Following an attack of hysterics, Mr. Raymond was being kept under the influence of opiates by physicians today, so completely was she prostrated by the tragedy in which she was, she admitted, the cause.

Although the coroner's report stated that Raymond came to his death as the result of a "fall or blow," the autopsy has been ordered and will be performed this afternoon to definitely fix the cause of death.

"We will lay the entire results of our investigation before the county grand jury at its regular session this afternoon," Deputy District Attorney Harold Davis said.

"Kelly will be brought before that body and asked to repeat his statements to police. Mrs. Raymond also will be summoned if her condition permits," Davis said.

Dr. Walter Sullivan, physician, who attended Raymond following the fight, and LeRoy Bagley, Hollywood undertaker, who prepared the body for burial following the actor's death, also were scheduled to be summoned.

RUSH BEGUN AS TAX PAYMENTS DEADLINE NEAR

County Collector's Office Will Complete Arduous Task Next Monday

No more, nor less, than the usual number of taxpayers will find themselves on the delinquent list when County Tax Collector J. C. Lamb slides his windows shut at the Hall of Records next Monday evening, according to indications as reported by Lamb today.

Next Monday will finish, for Lamb, the job of collecting about $4,000,000 in taxes for 1926-7. Today, with the "dead-line" only four business days away, a considerable portion of the final tax installment remains on the books, unpaid.

But that is the usual thing, says Lamb. And the usual eleventh-hour rush for his office, which will steadily whittle down the stack of unpaid tax bills to normal size by next Monday, already is under way.

The lines are beginning to form before the windows and the huge sacks of mail are starting to accumulate inside.

Tells How to Pay Taxes
Reference to the mail and the window lines today reminded Lamb to remind the taxpayers how to pay their taxes. Lamb has repeated this instruction every six months for years and finds, he says, that it not only simplifies the handling of the tax rush, to the mutual advantage of taxpayer and tax collector, but also keeps the delinquent list down by eliminating errors and carelessness that often form the difference between a tax bill paid on time and one that was delinquent.

"An attempt to catch a train does not necessarily mean a trip," Lamb points out, as a starter.

"In other words," he remarks, "an attempt to get the tax payment to me on time does not mean that the tax is paid on time. The payment must actually be in my hands—not just in the mail—by

HILO, Hawaii, April 20.—Secretary of the Interior Hubert Work has joined the "hole in one club."

The hole, however, was not the ethical little depression so hard to locate on a golf green, but the enormous fire pit of Haleamannu volcano.

Standing 100 feet from the edge of the crater, 1800 feet deep and a quarter of a mile wide, the secretary of the interior swatted a golf ball with accuracy and it dropped into the cavern.

Governor Farrington required two strokes to drop his ball into the "cup," his first shot missing the ball entirely.

SEIZURE OF LIQUOR VESSEL FEDERALSHIP HELD ILLEGAL

(By United Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Seizure of the rum vessel Federalship with $1,000,000 worth of liquor aboard 300 miles off the California coast some weeks ago was held illegal by Federal Judge George M. Bourquin today.

"Seizure of this vessel was illegal like that which contributed to the war of 1812," the court ruled.

The Federalship, with a Canadian liquor cargo aboard, was flying the Panama colors and its officers declared it was headed for South America, when coast guard cutters captured the ship and brought it into the harbor here.

Federal authorities announced following the decision that the Federalship would be released shortly.

"BLOODY WILLIAMSON" AGAIN SEETHES AS CHURCH BOMBED

(By United Press)
MARION, Ill., April 20.—The First Baptist church was bombed here today, following election of three of its members to the Marion city commission.

Authorities believed the attempt to destroy the church marked a new mode of vengeance in the stormy upsurge of "bloody Williamson," the county of which this is the seat.

The three elected commissioners, James H. Felts, Roy Blackburn and A. M. Garrison, campaigned on reform platforms in a hard fight for the offices. They denounced gambling, bootlegging and lawlessness.

There were no disorders at the polls yesterday, however, and Marion was congratulating itself on a peaceful election when the blast came.

Water spouts and cyclones continued unabated yesterday, striking in many places in the southwest already suffering from floods and high winds.

Many rivers are rising for the third time. Railroad and automobile transportation has been estimated.

SENATE FIXES CREEK-SHIFTED BOUNDARY LINE

Definite location of the boundary line between Orange and Los Angeles counties is fixed, under a bill passed by the senate yesterday, according to word received here. Having previously passed the assembly, where it was introduced by Assemblyman Morgan Keaton, of Long Beach, the bill is now ready for the governor's signature.

The measure was proposed to solve the problem of a shifting boundary line, which has in the past been marked by Coyote creek. As floods carved new channels for the creek the county boundary was never a certain quantity, according to officials. One day it was in one spot; next day it would be somewhere else.

The Keaton bill established a permanent boundary line which will "stay put," allowing Coyote creek to wander where it will. Orange and Los Angeles county officials, it is said, agreed upon the line established.

Another measure of local interest just passed by the senate was the measure of Senator Ralph Swing, of San Bernardino, authorizing an appropriation of $50,000 by the state to continue and complete the survey of the Santa Ana river watershed, started two years ago.

That he wonders now at such things as television but before many years it will be but a commonplace thing.

Depew was seated behind his massive desk in the office he had occupied for years and where he still transacts his business, when the newspapermen came in. He rose as they entered, shook hands with each and smiled in anticipation of the annual interview which he still thoroughly enjoys. He laid down no rules. The field was open. Anyone could ask him anything.

He hadn't smoked for 40 years, he added.

ANNUAL RUSH TO PAY TAXES BEGINS

next Monday at 5 p. m., when my office closes."

Payment Must Be O. K.

Further, says Lamb, the payment, when received, must be found correct in every particular, or it doesn't count, and by the time the error can be corrected it probably will be too late to avoid delinquency. All of the mail being received now by the tax collector will not be opened for about two weeks after the date of delinquency, Lamb states. Errors in checks included in such mail will therefore not be discovered until too late.

Accordingly, Lamb advises all taxpayers to be sure that the checks they mail him be accompanied by a correct legal description of the property; that the amount of the check is correct and that the check is properly signed; and, finally, that the check is placed in the mail early enough to reach his office before next Monday at 5 p. m.

If payment is made in person at the tax window, the check should be made out properly before-hand, says Lamb. Thus much delay and confusion is saved.

"Do not telephone the tax collector to find out if your tax payment has been received," Lamb implored taxpayers today. "We couldn't tell you until we had opened and examined 15,000 letters and checked them with our books. And of course that is impossible for us to do."

MEXICAN BANDITS KILL, WOUND 187

MEXICO CITY, April 20.—Railway authorities today reported 187 persons aboard a train which left Guadalajara yesterday had been killed or wounded, and that many of them had been burned to death as a result of an attack on the train by bandits.

A group of 500 bandits, the railroad officials said, attacked the train, derailed the engine and boarded the cars. The attack occurred yesterday afternoon. Many passengers, according to the report were inside the cars which were burned.

There were 130 second class and 40 first class passengers, 15 soldiers and two officers aboard the train.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. ## ASK SUPPORT FOR LAST TWO P.-T.A. EVENTS

The members of the Parent Teachers association in Santa Ana today again requested the people of the city to support the last two concerts of the music course sponsored by the organization. The request was made in a statement by Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, president of the city federation, as follows: "These concerts have been sponsored by this organization primarily for the school children of Santa Ana and the reaction to them has been very satisfactory. Thursday afternoon we will present Charles Wakefield Cadman and James Furstner, a famous bass singer. Cadman is too well known to require further comment. In the evening program at the high school he will be assisted by James Murray, baritone.

"Closing the series May 13, we will present the Smallman capella choir of 40 voices. It is the hope of the Parent Teachers association that every seat in the high school auditorium will be filled, as this is without doubt a great musical treat. They will sing several very beautiful sacred selections.

"Tickets may be bought now for $1.50 for the two concerts. After the Cadman recital, tickets will be $1 for the Smallman choir. Children accompanied by parents will be admitted to the choir concert for ten cents. We feel that every parent in Santa Ana should be bedazzled and make our efforts to bring to their children the better music a financial success. 'Man does not live by bread alone.' Neither does a community. If spiritual values, as expressed in religion, music, literature and other arts are lacking, no amount of material wealth will compensate for their absence. These should be the heritage of prosperity. Otherwise, the leisure resulting from economic independence is certain to be a dangerous thing. Cultural pursuits and attainments serve as society's highest safeguards."

The solons sailed on the transport Somme and will spend some time inspecting the U. S. interests in the Philippine group. Before leaving Honolulu the party visited the Hawaiian legislature and exchanged amenities with the island lawmakers. Senator Wheeler explained the brevity of the visit as due to the fact that "we must rush out to Pearl Harbor and see what Doherty did for the government."

HOLD UP AWARD OF GRAVEL JOBS

Bids on the contracts for graveling sections of Orange avenue and Dale avenue, near Buena Park, and Laguna avenue, in the fifth supervisorial district, were taken under advisement by the county supervisors late yesterday until next Tuesday.

AUTOIST HELD UP AND ROBBED BY 3 BANDITS

Sheriff's officers are today investigating three unmasked bandits staged by three unmasked bandits near Seal Beach yesterday afternoon when D. B. Randall, 1441-2 Rita avenue, Huntington Park, was robbed of $138 in cash, after the bandits had taken him for a ride of almost 40 miles.

According to Randall's report, he was kidnapped while in his own machine, in Huntington Park and with a pistol in his back, held in the hands of one of the bandits, was forced to drive for almost 40 miles "around the country" before the men robbed him.

He said he was driving his car on Florence avenue, when a truck directly in front of him, suddenly stopped. A man, dressed similar to a motor officer got off the truck and came back to his car. Without a word, the man got in the back seat and shoved a pistol against Randall's back. "Keep your mouth shut and drive where I tell you," Randall was ordered, he said.

At this time two other men got into the car and Randall was told to start. He was warned not to go too fast.

After riding around for an hour and a half, the car came to a halt in a lonely place near Seal Beach. The man who first approached Randall then said something in Spanish to his confederates and one of them took a wire from his pockets and wired Randall's hands to the seat. They then searched his pockets, taking $138 in cash, he reported.

Fifteen minutes later, while the Randall car was still parked in the lonely spot, another machine drove up and the three men entered it and drove away.

Randall had a hard time driving his machine with his hands tied, he said, but finally managed to get to Westminster where he called for aid. His hands were untied by F. J. Kelley, 306 North Los Angeles street, Anaheim, who notified the sheriff's officers.

Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, said today that good descriptions of the bandits had been obtained and that his office and the Los Angeles sheriff's office was working on the case.

Hold Mexican On Girl Charge

Charged with a serious offense against a 12-year-old girl, Ambrosio Salas, 38, Stanton Mexican, was lodged in jail here last night by Ed McClellan, deputy sheriff. He was arrested for L. A. Warren, county probation officer, who said a complaint would be filed against him today.

A charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor will be filed against the mother of the girl also, Warren said.

Honeymooners Return To Take Part in Easter Wedding

The return of Mr. and Mrs. John Kinyon from a motor honeymoon spent in Santa Barbara and other northern cities, and their establishment in a pretty home at 208 East Walnut street, has been greeted with much interest by the countless friends of the young people, all of them eager to learn details of the pretty home wedding of Sunday, April 3.

Mrs. Kinyon was Miss Margaret French, daughter of Deputy Sheriff E. E. French and Mrs. French, 2410 French street, and she and Mr. Kinyon hastened their return from the honeymoon, that the bride of two weeks might assist at the wedding of her close friend, Miss Cleo Bowers to Fred Hein, an event of Easter Sunday.

Only members of the two families were bidden to the French-Kinyon wedding, which took place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The E. E. French home was a veritable flower garden for the event and the wide doorway between two of the rooms was made a floral bower for the ceremony itself.

An archway, twined with ferns and greenery and then covered with sweet peas, ranunculus and pink tea roses, gave a delicate pastel setting. From the center swung a snowy wedding bell overflowing with pink sweet peas and forget-me-nots. At the side, amidst the greenery, was an ornamental cage whose feathered occupant sang a sweetly musical obbligato to the measured words of the marriage ceremony.

The lovely brunette bride made a charming picture, and showed an exquisite sentiment in choosing to wear the bridal gown and veil first donned by her sister, Julia French, when she was wedded to J. W. Wilcox, four years ago. The picture was completed by her great cluster of snowy sweet peas and maidenhair fern.

Mrs. Wilcox served her sister as honor matron, and wore a smart frock of pale green georgette with which she carried pink sweet peas. H. D. Gibson of Eagle Rock, a school chum in Idaho of Mr. Kinyon, assisted him as best man.

The marriage service was read impressively by the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, and after the congratulations which followed, a way was led to the dining-room where the bride's cake was cut by young Mrs. Kinyon. This was served with ice cream in whose center were pink wedding bells.

Relatives present at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Kinyon of Tustin, and C. P. Kinyon of this city, parents and uncle of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. French, hosts and parents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Rose of Newport; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. E. French and son Jackie, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hucker, J. H. Winn and son, Robert Winn of Long Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Gibson of Eagle Rock.

Mr. Kinyon is with the Standard Oil company in this city. His bride's popularity was attested by a number of delightful affairs arranged in her honor after the engagement was announced. Among hostesses who entertained with showers and other friendly courtesies, were Mrs. Harold E. Yost, Mrs. Ray Wolven, the Misses Gertrude and Frances Potts and Mrs. George Spangler.

Quill Pen Meets in Little Gray House

When Quill Pen club members met Monday night with Eleanor Young Elliott in her home at 821 Riverine avenue, several of them were thoughtful enough to take flowers to deck the Little Gray House and give a fragrant floral background for the literary program of the evening.

Mrs. J. F. Adams, club president, conducted this program, after minutes and similar business matters had been presented by Mrs. Harry M. Smith, secretary. Members had been asked to write a modern story using some Shakespearean plot, and these were read in response to roll call.

The stories were unique, and exemplified the remarkable plotting ability of the master playwright. Members were asked to guess which play offered the theme, and results showed an interesting knowledge of Shakespeare on the part of most of the group.

There were no other stories programmed, but Mrs. N. E. Wells offered a charming bit of verse to this interval. During the remainder of the program hour, Mrs. Harwood Sharp, a guest, read some of her poems, to the interest of all present, and Mrs. Charles Best, another guest, was prevailed upon to repeat some of her child verses which are prime favorites with Quill Pen members, and for which she is besieged whenever she is present.

Mrs. Marshall Harnois, chairman of the program committee, made up of herself, Mrs. J. V. Vlau and Mrs. Herman Reuter, outlined programs for the next half dozen meetings. Characterizations in dialect, will be roll call for the next meeting on May 2 with Mrs. N. E. Wells and Miss Verna Wells.

While Quill Pen wielders and their guests lingered for informal chat, the hostess, with the assistance of Mrs. Reuter, served refreshments.

Those present were Mesdames J. F. Adams, J. U. Vlau, Fred Conover, Harry M. Smith, Marshall Harnois, Herman Reuter, N. E. Wells, Blanche Brown, Charles Best, Harwood Sharp, Miss Verna Wells and Miss Hazel Remus.

Guest from Michigan Is Complimented At Park Party

A family reunion which honored George Shepard of Eaton Rapids, Mich., who has spent the past winter in Santa Ana and vicinity, was held in Orange county park on Easter Sunday.

The day was a delightful one marked by the renewal of pleasant associations by members of a happy family group. At mid-day, the long tables presented an inviting sight with their array of good things to eat.

Enjoying the day with the honor guest, Mr. Eaton, were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Andrews, Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Wilson, Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. John Shepard and two children, Mr. and Mrs. James Cooper and son, Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. William Summers and daughter, Virgil Summers and Miss Fern Reeves, San Diego; Clyde Cooper and family, Irvine; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shepard, Elsinore; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Aken, of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Maddux and daughter, E. E. French home; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lenz and family, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence VanHeuse and family, Newport; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wilson and daughter, Laguna Beach.

To complete the pleasant day, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lenz entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner in their home at 1825 Grace street, many of the guests remaining to enjoy the occasion with them.

Music and conversation sped the evening hours for the hosts and their guests who comprised Mr. and Mrs. Summers and Miss Summers, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. John Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wilson and family and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Van Heuse and family.

Miss Isabelle Wylie Becomes Bride of Ralph Roper

Choosing the utmost simplicity for their marriage service, Miss Isabelle Wylie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Wylie, 2526 Santiago avenue, and Ralph C. Roper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Parke S. Roper, 807 Spurgeon street, were wedded this morning at 11:30 o'clock, in Los Angeles.

The young people's choice of the services of the Rev. Hugh Walker, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in that city was dictated by the fact that he had already officiated at three weddings in the bride's family of brothers and sisters, those of James C. Wylie and Miss Cora Belle Hackler; Miss Emma Wylie and Jack C. Campbell and Miss Jean Wylie and Brier Schorr.

None of those earlier brides could have presented a lovelier picture than today's for Miss Wylie's sparkling charm was emphasized by a smart frock of blue crepe romaine, worn with little blue hat, and black satin cloak with fox fur.

The young people were unattended, and after the quiet ceremony, were to leave for San Francisco and the Yosemite. Their plans also embraced a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell in their home at San Jose.

Upon their return, they will establish their home in this city where Mr. Roper is connected with the Standard Oil company.

Farewell Party Is Friendly Courtesies

On an evening of recent date, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Hinkle, of 1816 North Main street opened their spacious home to a large number of guests, assembled to honor and bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. John T. Roderick and family who have resided in Santa Ana for many years.

Mr. Roderick recently exchanged his properties in this city for a forty-acre berry ranch near Arlington, and he and his family will leave shortly for their new home. He is in the building and contracting, and hardwork floor business and is well-known in business circles here. Also he has been trustee for a number of years, of the Seventh Day Adventist church at Fifteenth and Sycamore streets.

Mrs. Roderick is the daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Stearns, 832 North Van Ness avenue, and has served the church as clerk besides taking prominent part in all church activities. Both she and her husband will be greatly missed, and the interest and good wishes of friends will follow them to their new home.

Mrs. Hinkle used quantities of sweet peas and roses to deck her pleasant home, and a bright fire added its warmth and good cheer to the scene.

An interesting program of music and readings had been planned. William Wilkinson of the English department of Polytechnic high school, sang a group of favorite songs accompanied by Mrs. Wilkinson. Mrs. Baggdale of Riverside, sang Southern songs with Miss Godfrey as accompanist. Miss Esther Morgan, fourteen-year-old young girl, and Master Charles Martin, only four, each sang and an impressive reading was given by Miss Marian Hantz. Clever readings were also given by Dina Skinner and other young people.

In expressing appreciation for the courtesies of the friendly evening, Mrs. Roderick gave a most interesting little talk in which she advised her friends "smile, always smile, whether the day be dark or bright," a sentiment which all were agreed, expressed her own philosophy of life.

Evening Bridge Party Celebrates End of Lenten Season

One of the pleasant events celebrating the Easter season was the evening party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie H. Eckel, 908 North Olive street.

Mrs. Eckel stressed the Easter idea in her decorations of many yellow and white flowers, as a setting for bridge tables. In the contest, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lloyd took first honors, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Selbrede second, and Harold St. Johns, low. Each was presented with an attractive gift.

The small tables were arranged with pretty linens and flowers for serving refreshments in which the prevailing Easter motif was again apparent.

Reluctant to bring so pleasant an evening to a close, the merry-makers formed their own orchestra and entertained themselves and each other with solo dances.

Enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Eckels were Mr. and Mrs. William De Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Selbrede, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lloyd and Mr. and Mrs. Harold St. Johns.

The Theo Winbiglers Return from Trip To Hawaii

Their many friends are greeting Mr. and Mrs. Theo A. Winbigler of 207 East Ninth street, who reached home at the end of the past week on the City of Los Angeles, after four weeks in Hawaii.

Both felt that they had visited the Islands at a most propitious time, for everything is very lovely there at present. Swimming in water whose temperature was all ways around 80 degrees, was a very pleasant experience indeed.

Mr. and Mrs. Winbigler had the pleasure of greeting several former Santa Anans, among them, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. McCleary who lived here when Mr. McCleary was chemist with the sugar company. He is with a sugar company in the Islands at present.

They were dinner guests of Wilbur Palmer who is now connected with the post office in Honolulu, and also met James McDill, Y. M. C. A. boys' secretary there as he was here, and Walter Gustlin formerly of this city.

Trips to the volcano Kilauea on the island of Hawaii, and other points of interest, were all features of their stay.

Young Matron Plans Anniversary Party For Parents

A beautifully appointed Easter dinner was given Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kahler (Glenda Mae Waggoner) in their home at 1512 Dresser street, complimenting Mrs. Kahler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waggoner on the thirty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

The young matron used roses and sweet peas in rich profusion to adorn her home, and the attractive floral effect of the table decorations, were varied with Easter egg baskets and Easter place cards. Covers were laid for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Kahler, the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Waggoner, Miss Margaret Waggoner and Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Snider.

Among the many anniversary gifts presented Mr. and Mrs. Waggoner was a handsome set of silver from the hosts and Miss Margaret Waggoner.

SUBMIT REPORT ON FUNDS FOR SCHOOL SYSTEM

Unexpended balances of the various school funds of the Santa Ana city school district, aggregating $195,050.25, were turned over today to the newly elected board of education, according to an official statement issued by Elizabeth H. Phillips, secretary of the board.

The balances, verified by R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, are distributed as follows: Junior college fund, $23,145.77; high school fund, $33,587.19; elementary school fund, $64,045.95; and kindergarten fund, $7,271.36.

The books of the board of education, counter checked with the records of the county superintendent of schools, show the following receipts and expenditures for the school year 1926-27 up to April 1:

Junior college fund: Total receipts from state, county and district taxes, $84,890.55; expenditures, $71,744.78.

High school fund: Total receipts from state, county and district taxes, $266,583.34; expenditures, $32,998.15.

Elementary school fund: Total receipts from state, county and district taxes, $287,778.65; expenditures, $173,732.72.

Kindergarten fund: Total receipts from district tax, $21,619.99; expenditures, $14,348.63.

The above figures do not include obligations incurred during the month of April for teachers' salaries and current administration expenses, nor do they include the last apportionment of county funds made in the month of May by the county superintendent of schools.

TALBERT

TALBERT, April 20.—Easter Sunday was observed with five services during the day by a number in Talbert, beginning with a motor trip by 25 members of the Epworth league to Orange County park where sunrise services were held on Reservoir Hill. Song, prayer, testimony meeting and an Easter message by the pastor of the local church, the Rev. J. J. Woodson, composed the short service just as the sun appeared above the mountain tops, beautifying the already lovely scene.

The evening Epworth league service was followed by the Sunday school Easter program, which was very nicely carried out by the children, and was supplemented by special musical numbers by the Misses Helen and Louise Wardlow, who pleased with piano duets.

The Rev. Mr. Woodson gave a short Easter sermon and the service closed with the taking into the church of five new members, four by confession of faith and one by letter. Announcement of the continuation of the special revival services, which were held every evening the past week, was made. These services will open at 7:30 o'clock each evening. Sixteen conversions resulted from the meetings last week.

The pastor of the Mexican mission work at Westminster was in Talbert recently viewing the local situation in view of starting a mission among his people here. The prospects seem most encouraging and it is thought that this work may be begun soon.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hoepfner and son, were guests on Easter Sunday at Laguna Beach of Mrs. Hoepfner's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Neathery.

Francis Bartol and wife and baby, of Seattle, are expected to arrive in Talbert within the next weeks to visit relatives here, Mrs. Tinker and family.

WHERE ROTARIANS OF SECOND DISTRICT, MEETING AT STOCKTON, WILL GATHER

Stockton civic memorial auditorium, where Rotary conference, opening tomorrow morning, will be held. Inset, Fred A. McClung, district governor of Rotary.

A party composed of Miss Blanche Helm, Verna and Margaret Helm, their cousin, Miss Ruth Spencer, who was their houseguest, and Rose and Violet Rogers, motored to Silverado canyon one day on a wild flower hunt. As they were ascending a grade they met a truck load of boys. The road at that point being quite narrow, some maneuvering was necessary for the two cars to pass, and in spite of caution exercised, a projection of the truck caught the top of the Helm car, ripping the top off and breaking the windshield. Miss Blanche Helm's hands were cut to some extent, while the other occupants of the car were showered with the flying glass. The mechanism of the car was not injured in any way so the day's outing was given up and the girls drove back home.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Brady and two younger children, of Hollywood, spent Sunday afternoon in the S. E. Talbert home, and in the evening were dinner guests in the home of Mrs. Brady's other sister, Mrs. Ben Rogers.

Mrs. J. J. Woodson left Tuesday for Los Angeles to attend, as a delegate, the Women's Home Missionary conference at Trinity Methodist church, south. Mrs. Woodson will remain until the close of the conference, Thursday, and other members of the local missionary society expected to go up for one or more days. Mrs. White and Mrs. May Clayton are the other authorized delegates from the local society.

S. E. Talbert, after attending the Sunrise Easter services with a local group at Orange County park, remained to visit with members of the family of his sister, Mrs. J. B. Irwin, at their park home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Callens were hosts at dinner on Easter Sunday, entertaining Mrs. Anna Helm and her daughters, Miss Blanche Helm, who was returning that evening to San Diego normal, following a week's vacation spent at home, and Verna and Margaret Helm.

S. E. Talbert has a crew of men employed on a contract at Long Beach Heights, where he is leveling ground for a spur track for the railroad company.

Elaborate Preparations Are Made to Entertain Delegates

STOCKTON, April 20.—The Stockton Rotary club will be host to 4000 Rotarians and their families who will attend the twelfth annual conference of the second district, which opens in this city tomorrow.

Elaborate preparations have been made by the city to entertain its distinguished visitors.

For the first time in the history of the second district, all of the machinery for the conference will be housed under one roof—the new $600,000 Stockton civic memorial auditorium, situated in Stockton's new civic center, a few blocks from the heart of the business district.

There will be an informal reception in the auditorium tonight and tomorrow morning the conference will be opened by District Governor Fred McClung. Tomorrow night there will be staged, in the auditorium, a Rotary pageant featuring the principles of Rotary as applied to the development of the individual. A cast of approximately 125, with a chorus of 200 trained voices, will participate in this feature. The district governor's ball will be held Friday night.

The conference will be devoted to discussion of subjects of vital interest to Rotarians, such as

City Hall Doors Ordered Opened Morn, Noon, Night

"Open Sesame."

These were the words of All Baba many years ago, but Santa Ana has an All Baba all its own now so far as giving the "open sesame" order is concerned.

The order was given today by William J. Kelly, new head of the Santa Ana police department to City Marshal Claude Rogers, and it had to do with the closing of the city hall's front doors after 5 p. m., on Sundays and on holidays.

During the past two years entrance into police station at night and on Sundays and holidays was made only through an alley at the rear of the building. From now on, according to Kelly, persons seeking the police will not be forced to go up the alley.

"I told Rogers to keep the doors open at all times, all night and all day, every day," Kelly said today. Kelly intimated that the building was city property and that in his opinion, it belonged to the citizens and, therefore, he could see no reason why it should be locked up at night and on Sundays and holidays.

BABE RUTH'S WEAKNESS

Every batter has his weakness and Babe Ruth, the greatest horsehide mauler of all time, is no exception. At least that's the contention of Grover Alexander, star of the St. Louis Cards' pitching staff. The great Alex says: "When pitching to Ruth, keep them from the waist to the knees—the closer to the knees and inside, the better." In the 1926 word series, Ruth did not get a single hit off Alexander.

CONFESSES ROBBERY OF LA HABRA HOME

Investigation of activities of Donald D. Hill, formerly of Kansas, in Orange county, was under way by La Habra police today, following Hill's asserted confession that he, with three other men, burglarized a number of Orange county residences, including the W. W. Lewis residence on Fullerton road, La Habra.

Hill was arrested by Pasadena police and brought to La Habra yesterday by Chief Wilcox. According to Wilcox, Hill said that he and his companions had planned to rob the residence next door to the Lewis home while the family was at a funeral but changed their plans when they learned that the funeral services had been altered.

The alleged burglar's companions are being sought by officers. Two of the members of the gang are said to be in the northern part of the state.

FAITH that conquers!

"Faith moves mountains." It equips with power and courage the pioneer, the inventor, the explorer, and all who endeavor to create and achieve. Q The indomitable faith in California of the native-son founders of the Bank of Italy is attested by the fact that despite powerful opposing influences the beneficent facilities of the institution have been spread over the entire state. Q Nothing but a dauntless faith could have accomplished this. Q The Bank of Italy has faith in California—in its people, its resources, and its industries. # ANNUAL PENNY DRIVE LAUNCHED IN S. A. SCHOOLS

Penny, Penny, who has a penny? This was the cry in Santa Ana schools today as the annual penny drive opened and each school attempted to outdo all of the others in collecting the largest amount of pennies and other coins.

The drive which will last for three days is under the direction of a committee of high school students headed by Terry Stephenson, high school senior, and advised by Ray Adkinson, a member of the high school faculty.

Members of the committee include presidents of the Girls' league and the Boys' federation and a representative from each class. Miss Thelma Patton is in charge of the junior college drive, and students from the various grammar schools and junior high schools are in charge of the drives in their own schools.

Interest has been created in the grammar schools through the announcement that the school donating the largest sum will be presented with a banner. If that same school wins in the contest next year the banner will belong to the school. If not, the school to win will receive the banner for the following year. A banner has also been offered to the junior high school raising the largest amount for the fund.

The money will be turned over to the scholarship fund of the junior college which is used in aiding students to get a start in university. The students donating the money will pay it back as soon as possible, eventually making the sum self supporting.

Any person, club or business house in Santa Ana may donate a small amount to the drive which will continue until Friday night. Those desiring to assist are requested to address their contributions to Terry Stephenson, care of the Santa Ana high school.

O'NEILL ESTATE TO PAY STATE BIG TAX

The estate of Jerome O'Neill, consisting principally of the Santa Margarita ranch, part of which is in Orange county, must pay the state $168,719.12 as an inheritance tax, according to report of the appraiser filed Friday in probate court. The estate was valued in the inventory submitted some months ago, at $1,869,456.85 but not all of that amount is subject to the inheritance tax which is figured on $1,694,295.63.

Litigation over the estate already has started. Alice T. McDade, a sister, has filed suit to break the will, charging the document filed for probate is not the last will of the late master of Santa Margarita ranch; that the will was not signed by him and that he was not of sound mind when it was executed.

DIRECTORS OF CALIFORNIA VALENCIA SHOW HOSTS TO OVER 150 AT TURKEY FEAST

That the scope of the California Valencia Orange show at Anaheim is enlarging year by year, and that it is receiving greater recognition as one of the outstanding annual exhibits in the southland, was revealed to 150 newspaper, railroad and motor line representatives and business men of Southern California present last night at the annual turkey dinner of the show organization held at the Elks club in the Mother Colony.

Enthusiasm for the show marked the meeting and expressions of newspapermen pledging publicity for the 1927 show, May 19 to 28, warranted declaration by officers that attendance this year would shatter records made by the six exhibits preceding the one scheduled for the latter part of next month.

Newspapermen were enthusiastic in their appreciation of the show as one of the important features having tremendous influence in promotion of Southern California.

Roy Mack, secretary and manager of the National Orange show at San Bernardino, complimented the management upon the theme it has selected for the show this year and pointed out that the two exhibits offered a medium for proper publicizing of the citrus industry of Southern California. He commented on the fact that the exhibits offer a "close up" of the industry for tourists unfamiliar with the details of growing and packing of the golden fruit.

H. E. W. Barnes, president of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, and who officiated in an exceptionally clever manner as toastmaster, revealed plans for introduction of an orange packing contest that promises to become a feature that will bring to the show added interest among the thousands of men and women in the citrus districts engaged in packing fruit.

"It will be a contest for the championship of the world," Barnes commented, in announcing that cups had been contributed for the packing house employing the winner and for the champion and his next strongest competitor.

A reception committee composed of men of various communities in the county received the guests as they arrived at the building and gave them a welcome that at once made them realize their presence was appreciated. Hospitality was extended in many forms. The dinner menu was responsible for many appreciative remarks.

Included in the group of men giving public introduction following the dinner, some of whom made brief addresses, were Fred Wagner, manager of the Los Angeles Express; Burton Smith, state editor of the Los Angeles Times; W. R. Gordon, manager of the Los Angeles office of the Associated Press; D. B. Kaufman, advertising manager of the Daily Illustrated News, Los Angeles; E. C. Willard and R. L. Ganner, of the Associated Press; K. P. Fredericks and E. A. Powell, of the Long Beach Press-Telegram; R. B. Robertson, assistant traffic manager of the Union Pacific, who declared Orange county "the Gibraltar of Southern California;" Max Green, of the Motor Transit; W. H. Blodgett, of Redlands, representative of Mutual Orange Distributors; Harry S. Webster, of San Bernardino, president of the California Newspaper Publishers' association and business manager of the San Bernardino Sun, who gave assurance that papers identified with the organization would co-operate with the show management 100 per cent; C. J. Nater, of the Bank of Italy, Los Angeles, who declared that in "Southern California we have the only people in the world who hold a job and who are on a continuous vacation;" L. E. Miller, mayor of Anaheim; E. M. Bodie, of the Los Angeles Illustrated News; W. D. Miller, mayor of Seal Beach; J. A. Armitage, secretary of the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce; V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce; George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; William Schumacher, chairman of the Orange County Board of Supervisors; E. B. Sharpley, of the Southern Pacific; J. Tauseck, of the Los Angeles Examiner; Dr. F. W. Slabough, purchasing and publicity agent for Orange county; H. A. Lake, president of the Orange County Fair association; Dale R. King, manager of the Northern Orange County Fruit exchange; R. C. Emerson, president of the Corona Chamber of Commerce; Tom Day, of the Pacific Electric company; Fred Watson, general traffic manager of the Southern Pacific, and George Reed, manager of the show.

'CHARLIE'S' CONTROL ROTARY MEETING

That Orange county has "the best gas at the lowest price" in Southern California was declared yesterday at the meeting of the Santa Ana Rotary club, at St. Ann's Inn, by C. E. Rutledge, district manager of the Southern Counties Gas Co.

Yesterday's Rotary meeting was in charge of "The Charlies." That is, in charge of the members of the club who were christened Charles. Charles F. Hell was chairman, and Charles D. Brown, Charles F. Mitchell, Charles E. Rutledge and Charles H. Chapman were the speakers.

Chapman, as a lumber dealer, said that in modern lumbering there is very little waste. Scientific methods are used in cutting trees, and everything, including the sawdust, is utilized. He urged support of the Redwood highway project.

Directors of the Rotary club yesterday voted a subscription of $25 to the scholarship fund of the Santa Ana High school and Junior college. A campaign to increase this fund is now on through the city schools.

After the wheels of two coaches of an electric train in Heasel, Ireland, had run over her and caused fatal injuries, the only thought expressed by Sarah Farrell was, "I wonder who will look after my dog now?"

REDWOOD PARTY BRINGING OWN CHEER LEADER

"Like the troubadours of old—the Redwood Empire Caravan will swoop into this community tomorrow—singing its own songs and yelling its own yells, as a part of its eight-day tour of California communities."

"Romance of the Redwoods" is the title of a new song hit just off the press, composed in honor of the Redwood Empire Caravan, by Mrs. S. O. Coolidge, of Coolidge Redwood Park, Mendocino county, on the Redwood Highway, according to announcement made public today.

This song, said to be an unusually descriptive piece, will have its first public rendition in communities visited by the Redwood Empire Caravan, which arrives here tomorrow noon.

Members of the caravan will render this newest of lyrics: "Romance of the Redwoods"—both in ensemble formation, and probably with a few solo renditions.

This is a part of a series of novelty skits which the Redwood Empire progressives are reputed to include in their luncheon and dinner programs, presented at principal stopover points.

The caravan has its own yell-leader, with a particularly intricate "bag of tricks" up his sleeve. Even though the crowd should lack in numbers, still it never lacks pep, according to all reports.

The caravan is being staged under the direction of the Redwood Empire Association and the Redwood Empire Hotel-Resort Conference jointly with the co-operation and participation of other civic and commercial organizations throughout the eight counties of the Redwood Empire.

The "big tree men" will dine at St. Ann's Inn. President Clyde Downing of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce will make a short address of welcome and the Lions club quartet will sing. A pilot car, driven by B. E. Morthland, a director of the chamber junior division, will lead the excursion to San Diego, leaving Santa Ana at 1:30 p. m. Several cars from both the senior and junior divisions will accompany the excursion to San Diego.

NO BLAME PLACED IN CRASH DEATH

The accident in which William J. Lamers, 65, of 604 South Palm street, Anaheim, lost his life yesterday, in Fullerton, was accidental, a coroner's jury decided at the McAuley and Suters mortuary in Fullerton this morning. The inquest was conducted by Coroner Charles D. Brown.

The body of Lamers has been removed to the Backs, Terry and Campbell parlors in Anaheim. Funeral arrangements will not be made pending word from relatives in Missouri.

Theodore Lamers, of 405 South Lemon street, Anaheim, who was the driver of the truck in which his uncle was a passenger, is recovering rapidly from his injuries. The accident happened when the truck's steering apparatus broke, causing the machine to crash into a county truck driven by Arthur R. Geren, of Fullerton.

MRS. EVA PARKER IS DEAD IN CALEXICO

News of the death of Mrs. Eva Parker at Calexico yesterday was received here today. Mrs. Parker was the wife of Ernest F. Parker, and was a pioneer of this vicinity, having lived at Orange for 30 years prior to removal of the family to Calexico 15 years ago.

According to information received here by M. A. Yarnell, a brother, funeral services will be held at Calexico, but the body will be interred in the Santa Ana cemetery. The date of interment has not been definitely set.

The death of Mrs. Parker is the first death in a group of nine children. She had been ill for a year and her demise was not entirely unexpected.

Decedent is survived by her widower, two sons and two daughters.

GIRL RESERVES AND HI Y. CLUB BANQUET

Because of the success of the first joint banquet held by the Girl Reserves and the Hi-Y club of the high school last night in the city Y. M. C. A. building, the event will be continued annually.

It was declared by Raymond Hutchins, president of the Hi-Y club, who presided at the banquet. The girls were entertained as the guests of the Hi-Y boys. More than 80 high school students were present.

A program of musical numbers was arranged for the evening's entertainment. Homer Chaney, of the First National bank of Santa Ana, was the principal speaker.

The dinner was served in the banquet room of the "Y" building. The Rev. Richard H. Silverthorn asked the blessing. The musical program was opened with selections given by Roy Griset, saxophone; Ed Woods, banjo, and Ralph Myers, piano.

Herbert Prior gave a toast to the girls and the response was made by Miss Gayle Baldwin.

Other musical selections followed. A vocal duet was given by Misses Marian Bruner and Helen Richards, accompanied by Miss Mary Bruner. A piano solo was played by Ralph Myers. Miss Georgia Bell Walton gave violin selections. The program was concluded with a saxophone rendition by Roy Griset.

BEAUTIES BEG

After crowning a queen's head with one of her bonnet creations, a Paris milliner has announced that she will not make the chapeau for those it does not become. The bonnet has the effect of being pushed off the forehead, giving the wearer the appearance of a startled baby. It is said that many beauties are pathetic in their pleas for one of the head coverings, which naturally have become the rage.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer, if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 50c, 60c—Adv.

Teacher—"John gets 10c for the loan of $1 for 5 days. What's the rate of interest?"

Bright pupil—"It's not interest at all. It's usury."

Easterners never cease from commenting on our fine school buildings. California's school system asks alms from no one. But if the equipment causes comment, knowledge of the sheer ability of the personnel inside the buildings would cause even greater comment.

These women (there are a few men teachers, too) take our hopefuls and work miracles with them. The pre-school training has no bells on its toes. The tots totter into kindergarten. First thing we know, the teachers discover that our children have minds. Not only is it the work they do, but the splendid examples they set that wins our admiration. If not too liberally compensated, the teacher knows that most of us appreciate her efforts.

SCHOOL BOARD ON ORGANIZING NAMES DUNTON AS PRESIDENT

Dr. M. A. Patton Is Elected Vice President as 4 New Members Take Office

MISS PHILLIPS GETS NEW TERM

Petitions Concerning Head Of City System Discussed But No Action Is Taken

George Dunton, automobile dealer, was elected president of the Santa Ana board of education at the organization meeting held last night at the board rooms. Dr. Murray A. Patton, dentist, was named vice president. The election of both Dunton and Patton to their respective offices, was proposed by Dr. Roy S. Horton. In nominating Dr. Patton for vice president, Dr. Horton explained that while heretofore this office has not been filled, there have been a number of instances where its occupancy would have served an excellent purpose.

The meeting was attended by all the members of the newly elected board—George Dunton, Dr. M. A. Patton, Dr. John Ball, Mrs. Clara W. Wilson and Dr. Roy S. Horton. Members of the old board, headed by Alex Brownridge, were on hand to greet their successors, and then retired as the new administration went into session.

The first business to come up before the new board was the election of a secretary. Miss Elizabeth Hunt Phillips, secretary to the old board, was re-elected to her present position.

The next matter on the order of business was the appointment of standing committees, including those on budget, buildings and grounds, finance and teachers. In this connection, it was brought out that there is a general tendency in other school districts to do away with standing or permanent committees, and that their places are taken by special committees. President Dunton announced that he would give the matter his consideration and announce the personnel of the committees within a few days.

Subject to such changes as may be deemed advisable, it was decided to continue the administrative policies of the old board as set forth in rules and regulations and resolutions adopted by that body.

The next matter to be taken up was the election of a superintendent. Mrs. Wilson suggested that this matter be expedited as this official not only has to pass upon the re-election of the present teachers but also has to pass upon applications of new teachers.

The consideration of this matter was delayed by Dr. Horton, who

GIRL'S NAME WILL BE FIRST TO GO ON REGISTER TROPHY

Santa Ana's girl orator, Ramona Lindgren, won the Register silver trophy cup she is holding when she was chosen to represent the high school in the Orange county finals of the national oratorical contest on the federal constitution.

CHURCH WOMEN WILL CONVEENE AT FULLERTON

The next quarterly meeting of the Council of Catholic Women, diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego, will be held at Fullerton, April 26, at 400 West Commonwealth avenue. This meeting will be the first ever held in Orange county, and Mrs. A. W. Rothaermel, county president, is exerting every effort to make it a success.

The Right Rev. Bishop John J. Cantwell and many other distinguished prelates and lay people will attend.

The directors of the council will hold a meeting at 9:30 a. m., followed by mass at 11 a. m. in St. Mary's church. Luncheon will be served at noon in the school auditorium adjoining the church. The Rev. Mortimer Murphy will extend the greeting and Bishop Cantwell will deliver an address. Members of Santa Ana Young Ladies' Institute will serve.

A large delegation from each county of the diocese is expected and reservations for luncheon are to be made with Mrs. A. W. Rothaermel, 303 Commonwealth avenue.

The afternoon session will be called by the diocesan president, Miss Kate E. Desmond of Los Angeles, at 2 p. m. and she will also give the greeting. Dr. Elizabeth Sullivan of the University of California, will speak on "Some Causes Underlying Success and Failure," and the Martin J. O'Malley, C. M. D. D., will have the topic, "Adult Education," with Miss Verona Spellmire of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, speaking on "Co-ordinated Personal Service."

Santa Ana women who will have part in the convention will be Mrs. Olive Lopez, director representing the Altar societies, member of the reception committee, Mrs. George Ravenkamp head of the serving committee, Mrs. Clyde Ashen, Mrs. Clyde Taylor and Mrs. A. P. Daley.

ORATORY PRIZE IS AWARDED TO MISS LINDGREN

Will Contest Friday Night At High School Auditorium in County Contest

Ramona Lindgren, senior, won the right to represent the Santa Ana polytechnic high school in the Orange county section of the national constitutional contest when her oration on "Progress Under the Constitution," was judged the best given by contestants in the school trials.

A cup, given by the Santa Ana Register, will be presented to the girl orator at the student body assembly tomorrow morning by J. P. Baumgartner, editor of The Register, in recognition of her accomplishment.

This is the first year that the cup has been awarded. Miss Lindgren's name will be the first engraved on it. Each year the names of the winners will be placed on the cup which is to remain in the permanent possession of the high school.

According to information received by C. C. Stewart, forensic coach at the Santa Ana high school, there will probably be six schools in the county contest. The county finals are to be held in the Santa Ana high school auditorium Friday night at 8 o'clock. Contestants have been selected at Fullerton, Anaheim, Huntington Beach and Santa Ana. Orange and Brea are to choose their contestants tomorrow.

Miss Lindgren is the only girl orator in the contest.

The tryouts among students of Santa Ana was held Monday afternoon. Three contestants competed. They were Ramona Lindgren, Mildred Crowl and Ellen Smedley.

The stage presence of Miss Lindgren was the factor that won her over the other contestants. Her oration deals with the part that the United States constitution has had in the development of the nation. How the constitution has been made adaptable to the country from the time there were 5,000,000 people in the 13 colonies until now when the population is 110,000,000, is developed in the oration.

Police Hold Man For Investigation

Marching up and down the street, like a soldier walking his post or a policeman his beat, Emil Reitch, 33, Santa Ana, caused no little attention yesterday afternoon in the vicinity of St. Gertrude's place.

So many persons were attracted by his patrol of the street that the police were called.

City Marshal Rogers and Officers Smithwick and H. Hershey arrested Reitch and found a small pistol and a cartridge belt on him, they reported. The pistol was not loaded, police said.

Reitch was lodged in the county jail, where he is being held for investigation.

CO-EDS SEARCH "ENCHANTED STORY BOOK" TO FIND OUT WHAT CINDERELLA WORE

What did Cinderella wear and how, is the question puzzling Orange county co-eds, as they hunt for data on the subject preparatory to entering the pageant of story-book characters at the California Valencia Orange show at Anaheim May 19 to 28. The cameraman caught La Valle Chearham, Lois Dunham and Blenda Probst, reading the classic fairy tale on the high school lawn.

$25,000 IN NEW EQUIPMENT INSTALLED AT DAVID HEWES ORANGE AND LEMON HOUSE

Indicating a further inclination on the part of fruit packers to take advantage of every possible labor saving device resulting from the mechanical ingenuity of man, is the installation of $25,000 in new equipment at the David Hewes packing house at Hewes Park. The plant is now equipped to handle the largest crop in its history.

According to D. Eymann Huff, manager, the improvements have made it possible for the plant to ship 500 cars per season, nearly double the previous capacity. The Hewes plant has not reached the new capacity as yet, but with additional acreage being planted every year and with shipments showing a steady increase, it will not be many years until this peak is reached, according to the manager.

Shipments for the coming season are estimated at 275 cars, of which 150 will be lemons and 125 oranges. It is possible, Huff stated, that the crop may total 500 cars, breaking last year's record, which was the greatest in the association's history.

In order to attain the desired capacity, the plant has been remodeled throughout, new machinery installed, the floor space nearly doubled and every convenience added to lighten the burden of human toil.

Chief among the new equipment is the installation of a lemon belt grading system, which conveys the fruit past the grading and packing stations on an endless chain. A capacity of four cars per day can be handled, with 50 girls employed in packing and 11 in the grading department.

As each box is packed, it is wheeled on an automatic roller to the box conveyor belt, which carries it to the lifting machine, where it goes through the final preparation for shipment. To start with, four metal conveyor belts carry the empty packing boxes from the basement up through the floor, where they pass along underneath the packing bins within easy reach of the packers. The same system has been installed in the orange packing department, where, also, a Sunkist electric stamping machine has been added to individually stamp all Sunkist fruit in accordance with the new exchange regulations. At the peak periods, 20 packers and five graders can be employed in the orange division, turning out a daily capacity of three cars, Huff declared.

The trucking problem inside the house has been greatly reduced with the addition of the box conveyors, automatic chutes for receiving shooks and paper directly from the cars and the installation of an additional freight elevator. The two packing houses, one of which is the original plant built by David Hewes in 1890, have been joined under one roof. In order to accomplish this, one of the buildings has been widened, giving it a total floor space of 68 by 200 feet, which more than doubles its former space. A basement 50 by 152 feet and 9 feet deep has been added.

Prizes to Be Given Out for Best Costumes at Orange Show Mardi Gras

Not all the slippers scheduled to get lost and returned to the owners by Prince Charming on mardi gras night at the California Valencia Orange show at Anaheim in May, will be juvenile sizes.

According to word received from Anaheim scores of high school co-eds are preparing to enter the pageant of story-book characters on the evening of the show and compete with their younger sister for the prizes for the best characterizations.

Just what Cinderella wore when she made the Prince's blood pressure mount out of sight when she came prancing in the front door of the king's palace that eventful night, and other momentous questions, are occupying the minds of the older girls, as costumes are discussed and inspiration gleaned from sources of all kinds.

Mardi Gras night had its inception in the motif selected for the show which is a depiction in the decorations of scenes from nursery rhymes and fairy tales. Everyone attending the show that night may go costumed and compete for prizes.

CHORISTERS WILL GIVE DARKY SHOW

Home talent minstrels will be seen in Santa Ana on May 20, when the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. Choristers present their second annual minstrel show at the association building.

C. E. Hawk, president of the choristers, today announced the selections of the date for this event, which will be the principal spring offering of this chorus of men of the Y. M. C. A.

Rehearsals have already been started on the program, which is to include three snappy parts, each one of unique nature, and each to be full of pleasing music. Popular songs, both old and new, will be featured by the ensemble and the soloists, while jokes of current coinage will be reeled off by the endmen.

3 AUTOS STOLEN; 1 IS RECOVERED

Three automobiles were stolen and one of the three recovered last night, according to reports on file at Santa Ana police headquarters. A machine owned by Gilbert Lorenze, Santa Ana, stolen from a downtown section of the city, was found by officers near Washington and Santiago avenues.

Cars reported stolen which have not been found were owned by E. A. Stockton, 505 South Van Ness avenue, and E. L. White, 330 East Palmyra street, Orange. The White machine was reported stolen from near Fifth and Broadway and the Stockton car from 505 South Van Ness avenue.

Sudanese Like Meat of Dogs

LONDON, April 20.—Niam-niam dogs, the latest thing in society pets, come from the Sudan, where they are bred, because the Sudanese prefer Niam-niam meat to venison. Mrs. Court-Treant, who recently made a motor trip from Cape to Cairo with her husband, tells in her London lectures of the fondness of the native for the flesh of the Niam-niam. Like many of the natives in remote parts of the Philippine islands, the Sudanese like their dog meat while it is still quivering, and prefer it raw rather than cooked.

BANKERS WILL MAKE TOUR OF ORANGE COUNTY FARM PROJECTS

Los Angeles Financiers Are Asked to Join in Excursion Over Ranch Districts

WILL EAT LUNCH AT FAIR GROUNDS

Expect Other Counties Will Follow Example and Carry Out Excursion Program

A 60-mile tour of the agricultural areas of Orange county is planned by the Orange County Bankers' association Thursday, according to Frank Was, chairman of the field day committee appointed by M. O. Ainsworth, president of the association.

"It is expected that all banks in Orange county will be represented by one or more delegates to get an intimate glimpse of the orchard and farm problems of the county," said Mr. Was. "We are inviting a number of correspondent banks from Los Angeles and other cities to join us and see our various agricultural industries. J. B. Chaffey, vice chairman of the California Bankers' Agricultural committee, will be an interested visitor. We have asked that the Agricultural Extension service of the University of California, be represented in this county by the farm advisor's office, to assist in the itinerary for the day."

The 15 or more bankers will form a caravan on Broadway, opposite the court house, at 8:30 a. m., and visit the farm advisor's office. At 9 o'clock sharp the caravan will start on signal from the motor police escort which will accompany the group through the county all day. The itinerary will include the following stops:

9:10—Tustin. Meet 40 Junior Agricultural club members.

9:55—Irvine. Visit 15-year-old heavy producing avocado grove. Discussion of avocado industry by C. V. Newman, president, California Avocado association. Demonstration of efficient windbreak system. Visit Lemon Heights.

10:35—Tustin. Demonstration of walnut grove thinning at the Lambert and Wells grove. Visit typical poultry plant.

11:10—Greenville. Demonstration of alkali reclamation and drainage project at the Segerstrom ranch, a typical dairy plant. Discussion of pepper weevil and wireworm control.

12:30—Fair grounds. Lunch and short talks by bankers and farm bureau officials.

1:55—County insectary at Anaheim. Inspect oldest commercial planting of valencias. Discussion of orange production costs.

3:05—La Habra Heights. Demonstration of overhead irrigation at the place of George W. Beck. Discussion of nevadensis industry by A. J. McFadden, chairman of the marketing committee.

3:45—Stonebrook ranch at La Habra Heights. Demonstration of contour avocado plantings and hill-side farming.

The California Bankers' association is looking with interest on this tour, being the first of its kind in Southern California. Other counties will probably follow. The association went about at its last convention to encourage better cost records, more Junior Agricultural clubs, cow testing in the dairies and better livestock.

WOMEN INVITED TO HEAR IVEY IN SALES TALK

One of the most enthusiastic receptions ever given a speaker by the Los Angeles Advertising club was that extended to Dr. Paul Ivey, sales lecturer, when he appeared before the club April 19, according to a copy of the club's official paper, "The Blue Pencil" received in Santa Ana by Bruce Switzer, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce committee on arrangements for the meeting Monday evening, April 25, at St. Ann's inn at which meeting Dr. Ivey will be the speaker. Dr. Ivey was invited to come to Santa Ana by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The meeting has been thrown open to the townspeople, women engaging in sales work being especially invited.

Switzer said concerning the speaker:

"Dr. Ivey is probably gaining in strength and popularity over the United States as rapidly as any other sales instructor. He has come to Southern California from Philadelphia and New York, where he has engaged in classes in some of the largest manufacturing organizations in the east. In Philadelphia he has just concluded a general institute with over 700 members in the class.

"Our speaker recently addressed what is reported to have been the largest group of grocers ever assembled in the United States, when he appeared before 4200 of them at Columbus, Ohio. He is known to be one of the outstanding characters of his profession."

Letters concerning the meeting at which Dr. Ivey will talk are being mailed out this week to all members of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. A short musical program will precede his talk. Reservations may be made on the cards to all chamber of commerce members or at the chamber of commerce offices.

DUNTON IS NAMED BOARD PRESIDENT

told his colleagues of a petition now being circulated seeking the removal of Superintendent Cranston. In recommending that action be deferred, Horton said that it was the intention of several citizens to present the petition at the first meeting of the new board, but that he had prevailed upon them to postpone the filing until the new board had had a chance to organize.

He followed with the statement that in face of the present opposition to Superintendent Cranston it would be unwise to rush his re-election and that no action should be taken until those sponsoring the petition had been heard.

Dr. Patton, after listening to Dr. Horton, agreed with the latter as to the advisability of postponing election of the superintendent until the asserted petition had been filed. He made it plain, however, that he was anxious to see the petition and learn the identity of those who have signed it, and of those who are back of it.

Next to voice his observations on the anti-Cranston and anti-Hammond petition, as reported in the press, was Dr. Ball, who declared that his language was very unsatisfactory as it failed to state specific charges or give definite reasons for bringing about the removal of the two school executives. He took exception to the threat to withhold support of school bonds unless the two officials are displaced contained in the latter part of the text of the petition. He went on to say, however, that if the opponents to Cranston and Hammond would bring specific charges or valid reasons for a complaint, he would favor a thorough investigation and then act accordingly.

While not committing himself to any definite action, Dr. Patton said that he would like to have a definite statement showing the real reason for the petitioners' dissatisfaction with the present superintendent.

Following some further discussion on the subject, it was decided to take up the matter of selecting a superintendent at the next regular meeting, Tuesday evening, April 26.

AT THE THEATERS

Florence Vidor and Clive Brook in a scene from "Afraid to Love," picture now at the Yost Broadway theater.

Yvette Gilbert and Emil Jannings in a scene from "Faust," picture now showing at the West Coast-Walker.

WEST COAST-WALKER

"Faust," an epic film, spectacular in the genuine sense of the word, deftly touched with humor and pathos that is genuine, has come to the West Coast-Walker theater.

Emil Jannings, famed European character star, plays the leading part in this stupendous production. "Faust" is a film to be remembered always. It has the virility of melodrama, the persuasive quality of romance and the momentum of life.

The stage offering is several acts of selected vaudeville featuring such popular artists as Billy De Arno, in a clever novelty comedy skit; Howard Swartz in his original comedy monologue; the "Two Robins," in wondrous whistling interpretations, and the "High Steppers," in a novelty song and dance act.

Bobby Wolff has arranged another big musical hit for his band.

YOST THEATER

"Certain themes are ideal for motion pictures," says D. W. Griffith, noted director. "Years ago, the wedding of north and south through the Civil war, appealed to me as such a theme. That's why I produced 'The Birth of a Nation'."

"Take, for instance, the Satanic idea," he continues. "Coming out of the East, it was old before Christianity. Modern motion picture audiences are apt to say: 'But this old-fashioned notion of the Devil doesn't interest us.'"

"Quite true, but—the Devil is no longer thought of as a demon. He is a part of our civilization. Instead of considering Satan the sinister destroyer, we now think of him as a mischief-maker."

"I noted this tendency and thought of the picture possibilities contained in Marie Corelli's 'Sorrow of Satan.'"

EXCHANGE CLUB PLANNING PARTY

Discussion of plans for an opening summer party at Capistrano Beach featured the business session of the Exchange club meeting yesterday.

Details of the contemplated party were left to a committee composed of Stanley Clem, John Ott and Merle Morris, the date also to be decided by the committee. Members suggested an early date in May. If plans discussed are executed the social affair will be held in the Mills cafe there.

C. M. Best, advertising manager for the Excelsior Creamery company, was the speaker at the meeting. Best presented his address, "The Third Eight," which he has given at meetings of a number of Santa Ana service clubs.

Vilma Banky was chosen Queen of the Movies in the voting contest just concluded by the New York Daily News, while her costar, Ronald Colman, finished second among the male stars in the voting.

BERLIN, April 20.—The Prussian law courts have at last succumbed to a form of modernization.

More than 3000 typewriters have been installed in the principal courts where most of the clerical work, with the exception of letter writing, has been done with pen and ink as of old. Adding and bookkeeping machines are being installed gradually.

URGE LEGION MEN TO RENEW U. S. INSURANCE

Ex-service men of Santa Ana are being urged to reinstate their government insurance before the time limit expires in the very near future and every effort is being made to call their attention to the fact that limit is not far away, according to Commander Jules Markel of the Santa Ana post, American Legion.

After July 2, of this year, the opportunity to reinstate insurance that was allowed to lapse during the past ten years, will have slipped by and that date is being drummed into Legion members and others who served in 1917 and 1918, Markel said.

"The provisions for reinstatement are so lenient, the terms of the policies so liberal, and the premiums so low, that some of the seven convertible policies are within reach of virtually all veterans," Markel said.

"For that reason our post is anxious that every man and woman who is entitled to the government war insurance be warned of the final date for reinstatement," he said.

Whether members of the Legion or not, all veterans are urged, Markel said, to get in touch with some post and have the reinstatement blanks made out and signed and mailed into Washington before the final date, July 2.

been placed under the remodeled building.

An underground passage links the new basement with the old one, so that fruit may be trucked from one to the other without using the elevators.

The main packing plant, known as the lemon house, has a floor space of 84 by 144 feet, with a storage capacity of 85 cars of lemons in the basement and upper floor. The storage quarters, both for oranges and lemons, are especially constructed to maintain an even temperature, ranging from 55 to 60 degrees, which is essential to preserve the fruit in its original state. The humidity, another important item in storage of fruit, is maintained between 80 and 85.

A large concrete sweating room, containing four separate compartments, is situated upstairs, where the coloring of lemons is carried on under almost perfect conditions, Huff explained.

EASTWOOD TREK OF RING NOTABLES ON

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—The eastward trek is noteworthy in the Southland boxing circles today with the departure of Bud Taylor, regarded as bantamweight champion, and Mushy Callahan, king of the junior welterweights.

Taylor, with the scalp of Young Nationalists at his belt, accompanied by his manager, Eddie Long leaves today for Terre Haute, Ind. Callahan and Eddie Sears, his manager, are headed for Chicago and New York where Mushy has several big outdoor bouts on the "fire" in defense of his junior welterweight title.

Jackie Fields, who two weeks ago took a newspaper verdict over Sammy Mandell, leaves tomorrow with his manager, Gig Rooney, for a conquest of New York.

Engineer Cressy Praises Tanlac

Fermentation, Bloating, Nervousness, Constipation, Headaches, Health Restored, Gains 26 Pounds.

"Tanlac did me so much good that I have been boosting it whenever I could," says E. Cressy, 959 Ellis St., San Francisco, a well known electrical engineer.

"Stomach trouble was the seat of my trouble. Whatever I ate did not digest. It would lie in the pit of my stomach and ferment, cause gas that bloated my stomach and pained me. Often this trouble was so bad I could hardly breathe. I was always constipated and lost weight fast. Of course I was nervous and at night I never slept soundly."

"Then a lady advised me to take Tanlac. I did, with wonderful result. It relieved all stomach trouble, gave me an appetite, cleansed my system of constipation and built up my strength. I have gained 26 pounds since taking Tanlac. And never felt better."

OBSERVANCE OF
FOREST WEEK
URGED BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—If you aren't interested in "National Canned Peas Week" or "National Garters week—buy yourself a new pair," you may at least be able to consider American Forest week without telling its promoters to go chase themselves.

It is estimated that no week in the year isn't reserved for some sort of propaganda, and doubtless some weeks have to serve for "National Toothbrush week," "National Buy a Can of Paint week," "National Candy week," "National Raisin week," "National Kiss Your Wife week," and various others all together.

Already, the mustache cup manufacturers are fomenting a "Grand-Father's day," the teething ring manufacturers a "Baby Brother day," the cookie makers a "Little Sister's day," and the Morris chair industry an "Uncle's day."

But none of these weeks or days has received government recognition and support except American Forest week. Before you say again that everything the government does is stupid, consider some of the things it hasn't done which would have been still more stupid.

The United States and Canada will observe their forest weeks jointly the week of April 24-30, domestically by presidential and in many cases gubernatorial proclamation.

Gospel of Conservation
The week is designed as a special period in which to spread the gospel of conservation. It is different from other designated weeks in that nobody tries to sell you a forest just so that you can observe it. The committee in charge of it is composed of 100 organizations representing various types of interest in the question.

Just how much American Forest week has accomplished since President Harding first endorsed it by proclamation in 1921 is perhaps problematical, but no one will argue against the idea. One learns from the forest service that the timber supply of the United States is being used up four times as rapidly as growth is replacing it and that the consumption is expected to increase.

Bigger and better timber crops is the answer of the service, which says that the entire 470,000,000 acres of American forest land must be put to work growing trees. This envisages persuasion of all owners of forest land to undertake timber growing as soon as possible.

Forest Area Reduced
Other forest service figures show that 90 per cent of high-grade saw timber is being taken from stored supplies in the remaining virgin forest, but that the virgin forest area has been reduced from 822,000,000 acres to 125,000,000 acres. The original stand is estimated to have exceeded 5,200,000,000 feet board measure as compared with the present stand of 1,600,000,000.

As for the bright young gent in the rear of the hall who wants to know who cares and is about to walk out on this story, it may be said that when he has saved enough money some 20 years hence to get married on, he will be paying through the nose to the furniture companies. One of these days wood is going to be scarce.

If you can't plant a few trees, the forest service suggests that you at least step on your cigarette butts before you throw them into a pile of pine needles. Man-made fires burn up some 12,000,000 acres of forest land every year.

Belated Ticket
Keeps England's
Beauty from U. S.

LONDON, April 20.—Because of a series of mishaps in connection with her steamship passage, Peggy Lamont, who was adjudged England's most beautiful girl at an Albert Hall ball last October, won't go to New York to take part in a contest to decide who is the most beautiful girl in England, France and the United States.

The date of her sailing was postponed six times by those sponsoring the trip, she said, and the ticket finally arrived the day after the ship ultimately selected for her had sailed.

"I've made myself too ridiculous by saying good-bye to my friends so many times," she declared.

VETERANS TAKE
KEEN INTEREST IN STATE BILLS

Members of local veteran organizations are showing much interest in the disposition of seven veteran measures, now pending in the state legislature, the enactment of which into law would materially benefit ex-service men.

In this connection it was added that letters have been sent to State Senator Chester M. Kline and Assemblyman Dr. C. D. Ball, urging support of the veteran bills.

The measures are as follows: A bill securing to citizens the exclusive right to be employed in any department of their state, county, city or other political subdivision, except in certain schools.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Andrew Jackson

Sketches by Bessey
Synopsis By Braucher

Jackson was admitted to the bar before he was 20 years old. In 1788 he was appointed public prosecutor for the region now comprising the state of Tennessee. He met Rachel Donelson, daughter of one of the pioneers who founded the settlement of Nashville. In 1791 they were married.

The marriage caused gossip. The bride had a husband living, though both Jackson and she believed a divorce petition had been granted.

Two years after their marriage it was discovered that the divorce had just been legalized. They were married again.

Whispered slanders about his marriage found Andrew Jackson a fighting man. Skillful as a duelist, he became implacable when he stood to resent an insult upon his marriage. Failing to arrange a duel demanded with Governor Sevier, Jackson rode furiously into a group, trampling the governor under foot. (To Be Continued)

THE TINYMITES
Story by NAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tines liked the tea real well, and then they all sat down to tell Miss Polly 'bout the wondrous things they'd seen around the land. Said Scouty, "We have traveled near, and also far away from here. We think the folks of Mother Goose are really very grand."

Fair Polly smiled to hear them talk. Said she, "Why, do you always walk to get from one place to the next? I'd think that you'd get tired." Then up spoke Coppy, "Goodness me. You bet we often do," said he. "But then, so many new things come, we always seem inspired."

"There are a lot of things that you will never think are hard to do, if you are interested, as you're gaily on your way. We find a lot of hills to climb, but always take our own sweet time. Whenever we get very tired, we stop and loaf a day."

Then Polly said, "I'm glad you came, but now, although it is a shame, I'll have to bid you all goodbye. I've got some work to do." The Tines thanked her for the tea, and then moved on their way to see what else there was along the road to thrill them all anew.

And soon they came upon a scene where stood a very pretty queen. She beckoned to the Tines, and up the whole bunch ran. "I am the Queen of Hearts," said she. "I've made some tarts, as you can see. Just sit right down, enjoy yourselves and eat all that you can."

Said Scouty, "You are very kind. That's what we'll do, if you don't mind. We haven't eaten much today. This gives us quite a thrill." It surely was a hungry crew. The tarts had jelly in them, too. And all the Tynmites sat down and shortly ate their fill.

Queer Quirks of
- NATURE -

A HAWK THAT ISN'T A HAWK

BY ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.

This bird is a young nighthawk, perched contentedly in the only home he has ever known, the gravel roof of the main office building of a large automobile plant in a well-known Michigan city.

In reality the nighthawk is not a hawk at all. He lacks both the curved bill and the talons of that group of birds, and he feeds entirely on insects.

The nighthawk has a cousin

Young Nighthawk

with which he is frequently confused. This is the whippoorwill, that lyric songster that sets the heart of the June woodlands pulsing with his poignant throbbing music. The nighthawk may be most easily distinguished from this relative, however, by the broad bands of white across his wings, and by the fact that he is no musician.

His only song is a nasal "Peent!" uttered repeatedly as he swoops through the air at dusk, hunting his evening meal.

Nighthawks nest on naturally half-burned tracts. They have learned, however, that the gravel roofs of city buildings offer them protection, so some have changed their nesting habits and have become city dwellers. They build no nest, laying their eggs on the bare gravel, where their barred plumage hides them effectively. They catch their food on the wing, as do the swallows, and when a band of them is seen swooping over city roofs they are feeding on mosquitoes, June beetles and other quarry.

BEAUTY CHATS
WELL POLISHED NAILS

When a manicurist does your finger nails, she will most likely use two if not three, nail buffers, one for the polishing paste, one for the powder that goes over that and one after all this has been washed off, to give the nails a final glistening finish. If you do your hands at home, you'll find this method too complicated; besides, it is apt to produce too high a gloss, and that is neither becoming nor fashionable.

Still, if you like a high polish and find that your paste makes your padded buffer sticky, or your powder makes it dirty, use two buffers. The one that does the real work should be fairly large, well padded, covered with a good quality chamois, with a flexible steel band that can be slipped off, so the chamois can be renewed. The other buffer, the one for the final retouching up, can be small and cheap—I'd advise spending at least a dollar for the real buffer; you can get the other one for ten cents. You will find that, once you've washed off the paste that produced the real polish, the surface has dulled. It doesn't need elaborate polishing, merely a little touching up, and a ten cent polisher will do that quite well.

You can use tinted liquid polishes if you are careful. On the whole, I dislike them, they give an artificial appearance and the danger is that you use too much and make the nails red. But highly tinted artificial nails look well with certain sorts of evening gowns, and certain artificial styles of wearing the hair, and some of the freakish colors that are smart this season. There are liquid polishes which tint the nails and make them shine, which wash off with soap and water, and are harmless; these are for temporary use. But polishing with a buffer is the best way.

Why Are Women's Clubs
UNDER FIRE?

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

What about the woman's club? Where is it going? What is it doing?

The parent club planned in the beginning with the culture idea, for the betterment and education of its members has done the natural and normal thing. Women have discovered that one of the best things that can happen to anybody is to do something for someone else.

The original club idea has therefore grown branches that bear every possible kind of fruit—child welfare, the education of illiterates, social service, tax systems, pure milk and lovelier towns! Every form of benevolent, political, social and civic activity is to their credit.

But the original culture club is still going strong. There are many clubs that got together to read plays and books, discuss current events, and listen to lectures on topics of the day. Self-improvement is its definite aim.

Sinclair Lewis took a rap at the literary club in "Main Street" that rather hit it in the solar plexus. You remember that the club of Gopher Prairie dispatched the English poets neatly and absolutely in half an hour.

But it did not annihilate the club. It was like a dose of stiff medicine. Clubs sat up and took notice. They shook themselves and got to work. They saw that if they were really going in for improvement they would have to do it intelligently or be the butt of all the Joe Millers.

But the cultural club is still under the fire of criticism. It still bears the stigma more or less of time waster. Why this should be I cannot say. Women who give all their time to household duties and have no time for opportunity at home to keep themselves abreast of the times certainly have the right for an hour or two a week to hear intelligent discussions on up-to-date questions, reviews of worth-while books, and get authentic information about people and affairs.

The leisured woman who has opportunity and time and money to get first-hand information may perhaps lay herself open to criticism by not having her membership in what may be called a utility club, provided she does no other useful work.

But the average woman is a busy woman giving much of her time to others. Why should she not be allowed a few hours a week to improve herself?

PINCHED EDGES

The treatment of the crown and pinched edges are the points of interest in this felt hat. Quite high, the crown is loosely set over a band of grosgrain and has a modernistic enamel ornament in front.

Just Folks

A GOLF TRICK

Remember when at golf you play The rules were made to be obeyed, And when the other chap's away Refuse to shoot 'till he has played.

All even on the eighteenth green I stood with old man Sharp, and he, As it was very plainly seen, Was due to putt ahead of me.

"I find I have to tie my shoe, You putt, 'twill save us time," he said. That seemed a thoughtful thing to do.

And so I smiled and went ahead. The cup was in a tricky place. I tapped my ball and watched it roll And saw a grin light up his face As it went skidding by the hole.

For ways peculiar and dark A golfer beats the bland Chinese, He knew I'd overshoot the mark And that two putts would vanquish me.

The moral's just as plain as day, Don't fall for any willy ruse, Make him shoot first who is away And wait until he ties his shoes.

SISTER ACTORS MAKE GOOD

Alice and Marceline Day

Norma and Constance Talmadge

Vivian and Rosetta Duncan

Dolores and Helene Costello

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, April 20.—If actresses are born and not made, then it seems they are born in families. For Hollywood's number of acting sisters is growing daily.

In the Talmadge family there are three cinema luminaries—Norma, Constance and Natalie. Natalie is no longer blinking at the glaring klieg lights. It takes all of her time to be a good wife to Buster Keaton.

Cinema fame has visited both of the Costello girls. Dolores, according to John Barrymore, is one of the four real actresses now playing before movie cameras. Helene is coming along in great style and noteworthy things are expected of her.

The latest family arrivals in moviedom are the Duncan sisters, who have deserted the stage temporarily to film their own play, "Topsy and Eva."

Alice and Marceline Day had their starts as Mack Sennett bathing beauties, Alice being the first. Alice is now with Christie, having always done comedy work. After leaving Mack Sennett, Marceline switched to dramatic roles and has made good.

Occasionally when one girl "goes over," her sister is loath to capitalize upon her fame. Such is the case of Viola Dana and Shirley Mason.

Another similar pair are the O'Neil girls. Sally has already carved her niche in the celluloid realm and it would have been a simple matter for Sue to follow. But she didn't want to. Sue is now "Dick Barthelmess'" leading lady under the name of Molly O'Day.

VAST NETWORK OF DAMS FOR STATE PLANNED

The biggest irrigation project in the world's history is under way in California.

A scheme, involving the building of 10 great power and storage dams, storage of enough water to triple the irrigation lands in California, creation of waterpower in quantities equal to the total amount now being developed and reclaiming of 18,000,000 acres of land, is what the Golden State is contemplating under the Bailey plan, just presented to the legislature.

State Engineer Paul Bailey has been working for six years to evolve the scheme. Financed by the state's funds of nearly a half million dollars and aided by the state and nation's best engineers, he has worked to accomplish something even bigger than the Boulder Dam project in the southwest and an engineering feat bigger than the building of the Panama Canal.

To Check Flood Waters California, like all western states, is a land of wet and dry seasons. In the winter 54,000,000 acre-feet of water escape to the sea in floods—enough to reclaim 27,000,000 acres of land.

In the summer the land is parched from need of water. Especially in the great San Joaquin Valley is the water shortage acute.

Bailey's plan proposes to store the floodwaters of the Sacramento, Feather, Yuba, American, Trinity and other rivers of the Sacramento Valley in six foothill dams. At the junction of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers at Carquinez Straits he proposes an immense reservoir by means of a saltwater barrier. Then he will use the power developed at the dams to pump the surplus water from the Sacramento up the San Joaquin.

A series of locks to be built by the government will make the San Joaquin river a navigable stream. On the rivers of the San Joaquin valley will be built four more dams for storage, irrigation and power.

Power to Pay for It The Bailey plan is to cost not more than $550,000,000 in all. Sale of power will help finance it, for only 5 per cent of the power developed will be needed for pumping the San Joaquin river backward through its course.

Not only will the Bailey plan make rivers flow backward. It will take one river, the Trinity, from its basin and turn it into the Sacramento valley.

In connection with the scheme, now being studied by the state's financial experts as to means of financing it, is the possibility that through it, hydraulic mining, abandoned 20 years ago, may be resumed. If this is done $600,000,000 worth of unmined gold in the Sierra Nevada mountains can be released to the enrichment of the nation.

On unit of the plan is under construction at Polson on the American river. Another is being bid for by a private company on the Feather at Oroville.

This map shows how California may reclaim 18,000,000 acres of land by the biggest irrigation project in history. The project will cost $550,000,000, which will be repaid by income from the power to be developed by it and by the possible release of $600,000,000 in gold.

CITRUS BROWN ROT IS STUDY SUBJECT

POMONA, April 20.—Study of the brown rot which developed throughout the citrus belt during the protracted wet weather of February, was a form entirely new to citrus authorities, according to H. S. Fawcett of the citrus experiment station maintained at Riverside by the University of California, who issued a statement today following his study of the subject.

The pomologist's remarks, in part, follow:

"Judging from my study so far, I do not believe any new factors or organisms are involved, but that the trouble is due for the most part to an unusual combination of weather and fruit conditions. I believe that where there is not a definite injury the trouble has its very beginning in an almost invisible cracking of the cuticle or waxy covering of the rind. These minute cracks (under the moist, rainy and foggy conditions that occurred from about February 23 with films and drops of water almost continuously on the fruit) enabled certain common mold fungi to get started which brought about the breakdown and decay. I have found no new organisms not already well known. The black to greenish black fungus first seen on the areas is a common species of Cladosporium not capable of producing a soft rot itself. The softening that takes place later is initiated by the blue contact and common green molds. Some brown leathery decay due to Botrytis is also sometimes present.

"Any injuries or weakness to the fruit especially at the surface naturally aggravates the trouble. Some of the aggravating conditions appear to have been rapid maturity, with winds, late spraying with heavy oil sprays, touches of frost, etc. The almost invisible cracking of the cuticle is like that association with over-maturity of fruit. If dry, bright weather conditions, probably rapidly decrease, but if extended periods of wet weather occurs the decay will probably continue to be serious. Under wet conditions spraying with Bordeaux mixture 4-4-5 would probably prevent some faults now in initial stages, from decaying. Under dry conditions, however, such spraying would probably be entirely unnecessary."

CHANCE FOR IRRIGATORS TO BUY LOW PRICED PUMPS

Reconditioned Pump Department Established by Pomona Pump Concern

Large Number of New and Used Pumps to Be Installed This Spring

Pomona, Calif., April 19.—The fluctuating water levels in various pumping districts throughout California have resulted in an extensive installation of new pumping equipment designed to meet this particular problem.

Water levels that have dropped have made necessary the installation of new pumps of different capacities and lifts capable of reaching the lower water levels and permitting higher efficiency.

On account of the wide adaptability of Pomona Centrifugal Turbine Pumps to varying water levels, Pomona Manufacturing Company of this city has enjoyed a very phenomenal increase in business. However, in securing orders for their new pumps the manufacturers in many instances have extended the privilege of taking as part payment the old pump for which the customer has no need.

These used pumps, of different makes, are in most cases as good as new and the reason they were not suitable in the wells where originally installed was because of a changed water level or the desire of the owner to invest in a pump of larger capacity or for a different power application. Consequently the Pomona Manufacturing Company has quite a stock of used pumps, and these have been thoroughly reconditioned and will operate satisfactorily in wells of certain sizes and depths, according to pump officials.

The manufacturing concern has priced these pumps at a fraction of their real worth, which will undoubtedly assure quick purchase by ranchers who have wells suitable and are seeking pumps at the lowest price.

W. H. Day, vice president of the concern, has taken personal charge of the used pump department and desires to get in touch with every prospective pump purchaser who seeks a low priced pumping outfit. Communications should be addressed to the company. The main office is at Pomona, Calif.

NOW IS TIME TO SCRAPE OUT BARK DISEASE

By HAROLD E. WAHLBERG Orange County Farm Advisor

With the increased sap flow in the trees at this season of the year, the healing processes take place more rapidly where there is occasion to cut or scrape for disease control measures. This is one reason why the spring months are best adapted to general scraping work for scaly bark disease of the orange tree. Secondly, in the districts that are subject to the lower temperatures, diseased areas scraped in the spring months will have time to harden the new tissue formed following the scraping, so that it will not be so susceptible to the effects of freezing.

Thorough Scraping Important The most important item in the control of scaly bark of the orange tree is thorough scraping. By that is not meant deep scraping, but shallow scraping over a broad area well beyond the actual scaly area. The operation will involve scraping over the apparently healthy bark immediately surrounding the diseased spot four or five inches outwardly. In other words, a scaly area four inches in diameter will be in the center of a scraped area 12 inches in diameter.

There are three stages of the disease, the first, second and third. The first stage is small in size and just the beginning of the disease. It can in all cases be stopped and controlled.

The second stage has developed for two to four years, while the third has established itself rather firmly in the bark and possibly gone deep enough to stain the wood. The third stage is more difficult to control—in some cases impossible.

Get At It Early The rule is to get the first stage, or at the latest the second, and thus avoid the third stage.

Pernanganate of Potash is a simple disinfectant and may be used at any time. It is diluted at the rate of one teaspoonful to one pint of water, and painted on following the scraping within a day or so.

The Agricultural Extension Service is arranging ten field demonstrations during the second week of May to show all details of control work. Demonstrations will be held at Anaheim, Placentia, Garden Grove, La Habra, Yorba Linda, Tustin, Villa Park, Buena Park, San Juan Capistrano and West Orange.

Country Is "Doomed" "He has observed a community breakdown," the report reads, referring to the investigator's experiences, "due largely to a drift toward amusements away from the village, but mainly because the boys and girls as they grow up move away from the home community."

"He was very pessimistic on this point and stated that the rural sections were doomed as the younger people are not building up these communities."

"He felt that within the next generation the rural areas would be utterly depopulated. Farms would be abandoned and we would have forests springing up again."

Auto Is Blamed The investigator in these counties found greater social than criminal infractions, such as are prevalent in cities. There was no community force to keep the homes, he learned. So they drove out to dances and more dangerous diversions.

"The automobile," says the report, "has greatly complicated special problems connected with sex and liquor."

By pasturing winter grains later than the first of April, yields may be reduced as much as three to eight bushels an acre, according to A. Dagne, agronomist of the Oklahoma A. and M. college.

Warnings came from both the New Jersey and Ohio experiment stations that most of the samples of seed corn furnished for germination tests have been found unfit for planting. This is because last year's crop was late in maturing, so that the germs were injured by freezing.

In eight years the average cow in the herd of Fred H. Merrill, Littleton, N. H., has increased its annual milk production by about 700 gallons. Merrill says that a quality pure bred bull and good management are the reasons for the increase.

Farm Bureau Keeps Eye On Artesian Wells

By A. M. STANLEY Secretary-Manager Orange County Farm Bureau

Now, that Providence has given us a good supply of water, the conservation committee of the Orange County Farm Bureau is determined to do all in their power to conserve this supply. A committee from the farm bureau has lately been waging war on the owners of artesian wells who are permitting them to flow to waste. This committee has made a tour of several sections and reported a number of cases to the district attorney's office. In most of these cases the parties owning the well are advised that such act is criminal and if remedial action is not taken immediately, prosecution will follow.

A large number of wells have recently begun to flow since the heavy rains. Previous to that time it was necessary to pump them and for that reason the wells have not been capped in accordance with the law.

CRIME BOARD SEES BAD FARM FUTURE

NEW YORK, April 20.—An intensely pessimistic picture of the rural community has been drawn by the New York State Crime commission.

It is one of disillusionment and distrust in the promises of farm life, and ends up in the most disheartening prediction for the farmer that of fast decay and abandonment of American rural areas.

This drab outlook is foreshadowed on the strength of an investigation of two counties in New York state and the investigator's report of conditions he found there.

Country Is "Doomed" "He has observed a community breakdown," the report reads, referring to the investigator's experiences, "due largely to a drift toward amusements away from the village, but mainly because the boys and girls as they grow up move away from the home community."

"He was very pessimistic on this point and stated that the rural sections were doomed as the younger people are not building up these communities."

PROBLEMS OF THE SOIL

Q. Kindly tell me how I can stop attacks of bark beetles on pine trees. I have lost several fine trees and others seem to be dying. The trees seem to be all right one season and the next year they are dead.—G. B. S.

A. Under favorable conditions for beetle work trees may begin to die rather soon after being attacked. The only known method of controlling bark beetles consists of finding the trees in which they are colonized and then cutting such trees between November and May and stripping the bark from them, either burning it or exposing it to the direct rays of the sun. This, of course, does not help the trees attacked but it reduces the number of beetles and so protects other trees near by.

Infested trees usually may be detected by their foliage. Soon after the trees are attacked they turn to a yellowish green, and then in succession to yellow, sorrel and red. Ordinarily this coloring of the foliage occurs first in the tops and then works down over the entire tree, or it may show up all over the tree at once. Small holes in the bark and saw-dust in the bark crevices also indicate beetle attacks.

It is said that attacks of bark beetles often follow the clearing up of tracts where trees are cut down to make way for cabins or roads. Especially is this true when the felled trees are not stripped of their bark. Such trees attract the insects and in them they breed and later migrate in large numbers to live trees. Trees weakened by drought or other causes are also more subject to attack. Trees growing vigorously will often have such a flow of pitch that bark beetles are "drowned out." Therefore, any care trees can be given to keep them growing vigorously will aid in repelling bark beetles.

Needless to say bark beetle control is a community problem. One tree owner might do everything needful to protect his own trees, and then have his property reinfested from the trees of a neighbor who does nothing.

Q. Recently I bought some celery from a grocer and found it covered with a bluish-green substance. I soaked it over night and then ate it, but it made me sick. Can you tell me if this was poison and if the people are allowed to sell such stuff?—E. W.

A. Investigations made of similar complaints indicates that the substance you found was bordeaux, a mixture of copper sulphate (blue vitriol) and lime. It is used by growers to prevent blight injury to celery, but should never be applied strong enough or in sufficient quantity to coat the celery stalks.

Occasionally happens, however, that when a tank full of spray is about used up, there is a rather heavy concentration of material left in the bottom and it is this that colors the plants. Growers should use care not to apply the concentrated spray.

Undoubtedly copper sulphate is not a material to be taken into the stomach although small amounts might not cause serious trouble to one in good health.

Q. In my backyard I have an avocado nearly as high as a two-story house, but it has never borne fruit. Do you think it ever will or should I cut it down and put in another? Is there any way to make it bear?—L. E. R.

A. An avocado attaining the size indicated without bearing is probably a seedling and it is doubtful if it will ever amount to anything. There are two things you can do, if you care to. One is to cut a ring of bark all the way around one limb, late in September or early in October, removing about three-eighths of an inch of the bark down to the cambium. This will cause that one limb to blossom next season and you can then determine if the fruit is of sufficient value to warrant keeping the tree. If you had to repeat this process each year, however, to get it to fruit, it would not be worth the trouble. The other and probably the better method is to bud or graft your tree to a known and proven variety. Budding can be done at any time now, but it is rather too late in the season to do successful grafting.

Q. Last year a friend cut a ring of bark from a limb of one of my avocado trees that had never blossomed, although it is at least six years old. This year the limb is full of blossoms and no other part of the tree has a single one. Can you explain what happened?—M. E.

A. Ringing trees or vines to throw them into bearing is rather an ancient practice. It is often used on certain types of grapevines, on some to cause them to bear heavier crops and on others to advance the period of ripening. On trees it is often practiced with avocados.

To understand what happens one must understand how a tree or vine is fed. Raw food material is taken up in solution by the roots. This passes up through the outer layers of wood, or sapwood, to the leaves, where it is combined with carbon from the air and in the presence of sunlight is worked over into sugars and starches, the excess water being evaporated from the leaves. Later on the sugar is carried in solution to various parts of the tree where growth is taking place or where fruit is being formed. This transfer of food from the leaves takes place through the sieve tubes or inner bark.

When a section of plant is "ringed" the bark is removed down to the cambium. This largely prevents the transfer of food from the part of the tree above the ring, as it cannot pass the gap made by the ring. Due to the more or less uninterrupted flow of raw food material up the sapwood to the leaves, a relatively large amount of food is developed for which there is no outlet. This results in the formation of fruit buds, and later on blossoms and fruit, on the part above the ring, in an effort to make use of the surplus food.

Obviously, ringing could not be continued for any length of time without devitalizing a tree or vine.

Q. A friend recently gave me a jubube tree but did not tell me much about it. I would very much like to know about what soil it prefers, if it needs much water, when it begins to bear and what the fruit is used for.—Mrs. A. J. W.

A. The jubube will grow apparently in almost any soil, the principal requisite being good drainage and a fair amount of fertility. It should be irrigated much as other deciduous fruits are irrigated, the frequency and amount of water used depending to a large extent upon the type of soil.

Some jububes will bear the same season they are planted, while others may wait a year or two. Usually they can be counted on to produce some fruit the second season.

The fruit is not eaten fresh, as a rule, but is made into pastes and candies or tablets. It can be processed with sugar to make a confection something like dates. If

HEN LAYS WHEN PRICES LOWEST FIGURES SHOW

The average farm hen lays less than 60 eggs a year and she lays them during the season of lowest prices.

It is quite possible to increase the egg profits from the flock, says W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, by developing a flock that will not only produce more eggs in a year but will produce them in the fall and winter. Ten eggs laid in December, he says, are worth 20 laid in April or May.

A study of the trend in the average monthly farm prices from 1916 to 1924 shows that the lowest wholesale egg prices prevail in April and that there is a slight increase in July and August, with a more perceptible increase beginning in September. The highest price is reached in December. The important point for farm flock owners to realize is that it takes fewer eggs from October to January to pay for a given quantity of feed than during any other time of the year. Although the price of grain or of eggs cannot be controlled on the farm, egg production can be regulated to a considerable extent.

The ability to lay eggs is inherited. To develop an egg-laying strain requires careful selection and the adoption of a consistent breeding policy. The average farm hen should not only lay at least 144 eggs in a year but most of them should be laid from October to March. This can be accomplished by building up the flock from selected females that have these characters and with males produced by such females.

Four guides to improvement are the selecting each year of (1) those hens which mature early; (2) those which lay best after they begin; (3) those which seldom go broody; and (4) those which lay well throughout the late summer and fall. Furthermore it is important to hatch the chicks as early as possible. Inasmuch as the general-purpose pullet does not begin laying until seven months old, it is obvious that October or November layers should be hatched in March or April.

If you are interested in obtaining more detailed information write for Bulletin No. 1215, published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. The government will gladly furnish the bulletin free.

Q. Recently some books in an unused case were found to be rid-dled with termites. Other books were still uninjured, apparently, but there may still be some insects in them. Please advise treatment to make sure they are all killed.—Mrs. W. B.

A. Put the books in a tub, barrel or tight container and on top of them place a saucer or dish of carbon bisulphide. Cover the container with sacks or rugs and allow to remain for 36 to 48 hours. The carbon bisulphide is heavier than air and being placed on top of the books will sink to the bottom. Care should be taken not to inhale the carbon bisulphide vapor or to expose it anywhere near an open flame.

The bookcase itself can be painted inside with some such disinfectant as carbolineum, working it into the cracks and behind the shelves.

GOSSIP of the RING

Renewed action in the feud between Gene Tunney and James A. Farley, chairman of the New York boxing commission, is almost certain to send Tex Rickard on the road again to sell his next heavyweight championship fight.

Philadelphia looks like the spot. Rickard had his biggest success there with the Tunney-Dempsey fight not only because it clicked more at the gate than any of his big classics but because he was almost entirely free from annoyance and interference by the Philadelphia population.

A brief statement, obviously made for a purpose, by William Muldoon, senior member of the commission, would make it financially impossible for Rickard to stage the fight in New York regardless of the opponent finally named to meet the champion.

"Not more than $27.50 can be charged for a seat for any contest staged in New York as long as I have anything to say about it," Muldoon said and he drew a confirming nod from Farley.

Tex Can Get Big Price
Rickard can charge $50 tops in Philadelphia, he can seat more customers in the Sesqui stadium than he can crowd into the Yankee stadium and Philadelphia has invited him to accept its hospitality again.

Tunney was said to have been swayed by an over-powering feeling of civic pride to fight in New York last summer among the home folks but Rickard had no tears to shed for New York. He wouldn't rap the town but his business heart softens toward the place that has the jack.

So many obstacles were placed in Rickard's way when he was trying to swing the Tunney-Dempsey fight for New York that a great many observers reached the conviction that somebody for some reason didn't want the fight in New York. It was denied emphatically that Albany had any hand or voice in the matter but the commission, especially Farley, acted with such assurance that it was obvious that there wasn't much of a chance to be overruled.

Best Not Wanted in N. Y.
Now that other little impediments are being placed in the way of Rickard's plan for the next heavyweight championship fight, it looks like a dead clinch that for some reason the fight is not wanted in New York.

It is a matter of no great concern to the general population of the country where the fight is to be held and with the exception of their own immediate friends no one cares much what Tunney thinks about Farley or what Farley thinks about Tunney although Farley might win the straw vote.

It is possible that the commission is thinking right along with Rickard and it wants to get in early with a good out to save themselves a lot of worry and to protect their hides.

The commission drove the Tunney-Dempsey fight out of New York because it ruled that Harry Wills instead of Tunney ought to be fighting for the championship.

Commission Protecting Self?
The commission may be acting now to protect itself against ruling definitely that Dempsey cannot fight Tunney in a return bout for the title.

Rickard has been very quiet about his preference for an opponent for Tunney in the next fight but he has dropped enough sly remarks and he has some many times expressed his high regard for Dempsey's fighting and drawing power that it is safe to assert that he would prefer to toss Dempsey back into the ring with the champion.

He is playing around now with a heavyweight tournament to decide by actual fighting and public

REGGIE McNAMARA HAS TAKEN PART IN 52 SIX-DAY BIKE RACES

Baseball has its Ty Cobb, Walter Johnson and Babe Ruth. Football has its "Red" Grange. The turf, Man o'War. But to patrons of the six-day bike-racing sport, "Reggie" McNamara is a greater hero.

Walter Johnson, starting his 20th campaign as a major league pitcher, is a heroic figure, but to the "bike" fans, McNamara is the "iron man" of all sports.

McNamara is 40 years of age and has been riding 21 seasons. He has never ridden as an amateur, stepping right into the pro class and making good. He has taken part in 52-six-day races.

In his brilliant career as a six-day rider, he has seldom been out of the money. When he won the recent event in Paris, it made the 13th time he had flashed over the line first. He isn't superstitious about number 13 either, insisting it will be his 14th victory after the next time out.

Statistics show he usually gets some of the dough, finishing second on seven occasions, third nine times and fourth in four. Six times he has been victor in the biggest of all six-day events, the New York classic.

choices who the opponent for Tunney should be.

Dempsey is not in the tournament but it is possible that the tournament will show the tries-to-be so poor that Dempsey will be elected and the mob will be clamoring for him instead of Maloney, Sharkey, Squeetunk Uzdum or the other aspirants.

Rickard would be pleased to bear a public clamor for Dempsey and it looks like it is coming around that way.

Pasadena Is League Track Champ

Pasadena high school today held the track and field championship of the Coast Preparatory league following its 60 to 53 victory over Glendale in the final dual meet of the season at Pasadena yesterday. The Dynamiters were undefeated previously.

Wykoff, crack Glendale sprinter, won the 100 in 9.7 seconds but Slocum, his teammate, beat him in the 220 in 23.1 seconds. Welsh, Pasadena, won both hurdles, negotiating the highs in 15.6 seconds.

Colima Defeats Tiger Thomas

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Bert Colima, Whittier middleweight, today has made good another comeback bid, by virtue of a clean cut victory over Tiger Thomas, Philadelphia negro brawler, in 10 rounds of milling at the Olympic last night.

In the initial round Colima whipped a short punch to the body that dropped Thomas for the count of nine.

In the opening game of the 1925 season the Cleveland Americans won from St. Louis by a score of 21 to 14. The Indians tallied 12 runs in one inning.

DONS TO MEET CITRUS OUTFIT HERE THURSDAY

After two weeks' respite, the Santa Ana junior college baseball club will swing into action at the Poly orchard again tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, against Citrus junior college in the second league test of the Southern California conference schedule.

The locals' regular lineup, with Milton Chaffee and William Poe composing the battery, will be used, according to Coach Graham Harris.

Santa Ana's collegians have not engaged in a conference match since the Riverside fracas of disastrous consequences two weeks ago. Since then, Coach Harris has had his team strengthened by the addition of track recruits and Milton Chaffee has been developing a sizzling speed ball so baseball fans are hoping to credit him with a victory.

Santa Ana's lineup will consist of William Poe, catcher; Milton Chaffee, pitcher; Wallace Geron, first baseman; Henrik Van Rensselaer, second baseman; Manley Knight, third baseman; Bonie Jiminez, shortstop; John Fitz, left field; Melvin Harter, center field, and Morten, right field.

During interval since the last league game, the Dons have participated in a number of practice matches with county high school aggregations. Coach Harris has sought to strengthen the team by trying out new players on the mound as well as in infield and outfield positions.

GIRL BASEBALLERS TO CLASH AT POLY

The first of the series of inter-class games in the girls' indoor baseball playoff is scheduled to be played tomorrow between the junior and the senior co-eds, Miss Alverda West, girls' coach, announced today. A double series of clashes has been arranged between the three high school classes and this match will launch the play.

Miss Louise ePa and Miss Rowena Cone will pitch for the juniors with Jean Nicholson hurrying for the seniors.

The schedule follows:
April 21—juniors vs. seniors;
April 26—juniors vs. sophomores;
April 28—juniors vs. sophomores;
May 3—juniors vs. seniors; May 5—seniors vs. sophomores; May 10—juniors vs. sophomores.

The Waseda university baseball team of Tokio, Japan, is now on its way to America for games with the Universities of Washington, California, Chicago, Indiana and Harvard. It is the largest Japanese baseball party that ever visited the United States.

HUGGINS TEAM LOOKS CERTAIN OF A. L. TITLE

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 20.—"The Yankees will be so far out in front by July that there won't be any race," Broadway is beginning to say.

So far this season the Yankees have shown themselves to be not only naturally a good ball club, but by all orders the class of the league and probably one of the greatest teams of all times.

Connie Mack had a great ball club once in the Philadelphia Athletics of $100,000 in field fame. Bill Carrigan had a great team of Boston Red Sox before he quit the game 10 years ago. But Mack and Carrigan are willing to admit that if New York has not the most polished team in their memory it has at least the most powerful.

The Athletics felt the power of the team in the first series of the season, failing to win a game. The Red Sox took socks on the chin until yesterday, when they succeeded in ending the Yankees' six game winning streak.

"I've never seen a ball club with so many hitters that a pitcher had to bear down on every ball," Carrigan said today. "It's murderous on a pitcher to work on eight men on the club, anyone of whom is liable to knock the ball out of the lot."

It cannot be overlooked that Babe Ruth is not hitting. He is just recovering from a severe cold and is not near "on his game." Yet the team has speeded along. The reserve strength is so well distributed that the team can get along without any player on the club for a time at least.

The club is getting great pitching from Herb Pennock and "Dutch" Reuther which, particularly in the case of Reuther, is an item of the greatest significance.

"BIG MOOSE" AFTER $50,000

Norman Ross, Olympic champion, has arrived from Hawaii with news that he is after that $50,000 prize offered by the Hawaiian legislature for a 30-mile swim across the Kaiwi channel in the Hawaiian Islands. Ross here is pictured with his wife and two sons, Norman Jr. and Donald. Ross was George Young's closest competitor in the Catalina channel swim.

POLY FALLS BEFORE GROVERS IN LAST BASEBALL PRACTICE BEFORE THIRD LEAGUE GAME

When the Santa Ana high school baseball team meets South Pasadena here Friday afternoon, nine Poly players, in no peaceable frame of mind, will take the field. The 11 to 9 drubbing that the team received from Garden Grove yesterday in the last practice game of the week will not be conducive to docility before the visiting Tigers.

The Garden Grove players "batted around" in the seventh inning and scored the runs that enabled them to win, chiefly due to the errors that were committed by the Poly infield.

At the start the Garden Grove team jumped to the lead but the advantage wavered first to one team, then the other. Eight innings were played but the scores that the Chillepper athletes made in the seventh decided the outcome.

The box score:

Troy Concedes Big Meet To Stanford Team's Maximum is 58 Points, Claim

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Southern California fans have ceased to figure how Troy can defeat Stanford in the dual meet at Stanford Saturday afternoon and instead are making wild guesses at how many points the Trojans can score against the Cardinal outfit. The most consistent do-sheet gives the Southern Californians 51 points.

The most optimistic of the southerners figure 58 digits for Coach Dean Cromwell's outfit. This puts the Trojans within eight points of winning and anything can happen in that space of tallies, which leaves some hope after all for Southern California.

Cromwell's team goes north in good physical condition as far as is known. Cripples were all held from competition in the A.A.U. meet last Saturday for fear of further injury but this left them without activity and there is nothing to indicate whether Reynolds, race in the low hurdles. He is now given a chance to win the lows from West but most do-esters place him second. Chesley or Johnny Parsons can run 23 seconds in the 220.

There were both joys and disappointments for Southern California in the A.A.U. meet. One of the former was the 9.6 seconds 100 which Charles Borah registered. Ed House was close to 9.8 seconds in that race. Borah was clocked in 9.5 seconds but the tenth watches have been barred by the A. A. U. Borah then ran 21.1 second in the 220 with House close behind and Smith somewhat in the rear. The time was given at 21.1-5 seconds.

But since everyone concedes the sprints to Borah, his running was no surprise. Morton Kaer brought the most joy to Dean Cromwell when he turned in a 23.8 seconds

START DRIVE OVERLOADED MOTOR TRUCKS

A determined campaign, designed to protect the state highways by ridding them of trucks deliberately loaded beyond the legal weight, will be launched within the next ten days by the division of motor vehicles, it was announced today, at the local office of the state motor police.

At least five crews, headed by an inspector and equipped with weighing scales, will be put in the field immediately. It was stated, with orders to stop any truck suspected of having been overloaded and check its weight.

Acting under orders of Chief Frank G. Snook, the state has been divided into districts by Chief Inspector C. K. Harder. The crews will be assigned to these districts with instructions to investigate all reports of highway damage resulting from excessive loading.

The legal maximum for four-wheel trucks in the state is 22,000 pounds.

"We have reason to believe," said Harder, "that many truck drivers are exceeding this maximum several thousand pounds with much resultant damage to the highways. Trucks operating in industrial districts where iron and steel materials are hauled will receive particular attention."

More crews will be added if needed to make the campaign effective, it was announced. In addition to these steps, orders have been issued to traffic throughout the state to keep close check on all trucks in their district for overloading.

SAYS RELIGION STUDY SHOULD COME UNDER "TRAINING" HEAD

Editor Register—We are hearing and reading much these days about religious education.

To take up this one point: Why is the word "education" used when "training" or "instruction" are the time honored words or terms for such connection. Education, by long usage, is associated with concrete impersonal fact, while religious teaching keeps away from abstract truth and is given over to impressions and beliefs rather than to impersonal fact. To be sure, religion as a subject has to do with emotional impressions to a large extent, but at the same time the impressions may be based upon personal understanding and conviction or upon what he is told and not because he understands or has any independent convictions. In the distinction just drawn lies the essential difference between secular and religious teaching.

The time has been when science was subject to personal belief just as religion was and is now, but science has gradually drawn away from such tyranny until it now stands upon truth as an abstract principle and entity that is wholly independent of any right or form of belief. What science has attained to and how much the masses have benefited by such freedom we all know, while under ecclesiasticism (if you stop to think and compare) we might still be believing that the world was flat. However, we should not go too far even here in jumping at conclusions.

If we say that 2 and 3 are 4, we express impersonal truth and so much comes properly under secular education, but if we go on to say that it never began to be truth that 2 and 3 make 4 and will never cease to be true then we have entered into another sphere, not susceptible to secular teaching, for it is the sphere of the eternal where response must come from the soul, and yet, it can not and will not come aright unless intellect and soul each in its own sphere recognizes the absolute finality of the saying that 2 and 3 make 4.

In the dim past, however, when the masses were in the grip of ignorance and superstition the right was assumed by certain leaders to teach that 2 and 3 make 3, 4 or 5, as best suited them, and from that time to this the masses have been held to a slavish subservience to insular forms of belief through a teaching adapted to that end. And now today as a world situation we have reached heights undreamed of a generation ago in material life while in religion we are in the same chaotic state concerning right, truth and how to worship God acceptably that the world was long centuries ago and so it will remain until we throw off the yoke of bondage that holds us into groups and are as free to study and understand the Word of God as individuals as we are to study, understand and use the laws of nature.

Now to come back to this matter of religious education, the vital question is, how much is the yoke of the "right of interpretation" to show through and between the lines. One thing is certain, if it does not show through no more will be taught than would come under the head of social ethics, which, after all, would be but a mild form of inconsistency considering that truth as an indivisible unit must not be brought out for fear of treading "on somebody's toes."

SALARIES OF CITY EMPLOYEES ARE BOOSTED

ORANGE, April 20.—Wholesale salary raises were made by the city board of trustees at the special session of the board yesterday afternoon. The raises ranged through the police department, water and street departments to include the fire chief and janitor. In five of the 10 instances where salaries were raised, the former wages granted the employees before the wholesale reductions of one year ago, were renewed, while in the remaining cases additional stipends were ordered over any previous wages the earners have drawn.

C. C. Bonebrake, street superintendent and city engineer, had his salary of $200 per month renewed. For the past year he has been drawing only $150 per month. W. J. Richardson, water superintendent, also had his salary put back to the former level of $200. He has been getting $175. George Williams, first engineer at the city water works, received a $5 raise, making his monthly check read $165. Will N. Parsons, city statistician and inspector, was raised from $115 per month to $125, his former wage. E. E. Kirkwood, captain of the night police, will receive $150 per month, the rate allowed his predecessor, C. V. Pulley. His wage heretofore has been $140 per month.

The four patrolmen of the police force received a $5 salary boost over the amounts they are getting, which is governed by the length of their service. Miss Mabel A. Reeves, city treasurer and water rate collector, was granted an increase from $85 to $100 per month. George Mundel, janitor at the city hall, will again receive $115 per month following a year's service at $100 per month. A. L. Tomblin, fire chief, was granted a $10 raise from $40 to $50. R. M. Ratliff, city yard foreman, was raised from $125 per month to $135. Horace Inge, city motor officer, was raised from $175 per month to $180.

The decision to raise the salaries of city employees was reached in executive session following a prolonged discussion of the idea which has carried over the past three or four meetings of the board.

FAMILY ASSISTS CHIEF TO FIRE

ORANGE, April 20.—How the family of a fire chief is called upon to aid in getting said fire chief to a fire without loss of time when the alarm sounds in the dead of night, was disclosed at the meeting of the board of trustees yesterday by A. L. Tomblin, fire chief. The revelation of the part the family of the local fire official plays in helping him get on the job in a hurry was made to the board during the discussion of the purchase of a compressed air fire whistle.

In arguing for the installation of such a whistle to replace the present steam apparatus, which has suddenly become antiquated through the installation of electric equipment, Tomblin disclosed how the cooperation of his family helped him to get to the fire while they are still young.

The first blast of the whistle causes him to light in the middle of the floor, according to his account. While he is slipping into appropriate clothing to fight the blaze, one of his sons slips out the back door, leaving it open for the more ready egress of his sire, and starts the motor of the Tomblin motor car.

When the chief arrives in the garage, the car engine is warm and purring smoothly, allowing him to make a quick run to the fire, the location of which has been puzzled out of the series of blasts from the whistle by another member of his family.

William Clement, trustee and former fire chief, proved the principal advocate of some other system than the whistle plan. No feasible plan was hit upon, but the matter was laid over till next meeting, when definite action on the matter is scheduled.

Girl Writes Auto Number In Dirt

ORANGE, April 20.—By writing the license number of a car which yesterday broke off a fire plug at the corner of Walnut avenue and Tustin street, in the dirt by the side of the street, young girl, whose name was not learned, probably saved the city the expense of paying for the damaged hydrant.

According to witnesses of the accident, the driver of the car which caused the damage telephoned the police department and the local office of the Automobile Club of Southern California, but before anyone could arrive from either office, the automobile driver had driven away.

Police sought to trace the identity of the driver of the car which ran into the plug and force him to pay for the damage.

BOND ELECTION FOR PARK SITE ORANGE PLAN

ORANGE, April 20.—Instructions were issued the city attorney, L. F. Coburn, yesterday, by the board of trustees to prepare a resolution of intention of calling a bond election in the amount of $65,000 for a city park. The instructions were issued in response to a request of S. B. Edwards, representative of the park committee appointed recently by the chamber of commerce.

Edwards, in his request for action, told of several possible sites which have been considered by the committee, some of which do not run as high as $65,000 and others which may run higher. But according to the sentiment expressed by members of the board, it would be better to call the election in the maximum amount required in the event that when the time for purchasing arrived, the less expensive property could not be procured and the higher priced land would be the only available site.

Several Sites Considered

Sentiment at yesterday's session favored one of two tracts lying near West Chapman avenue and Batavia street. The East tract of eight acres and several adjoining lots on Chapman avenue, making a tract of 10 acres, was favorably discussed. Another tract, formerly owned by Jack Porter on South Batavia street, between Almond avenue and Palmyra avenue, was considered. The Grech tract and the Hanson tract, each of approximately 15 acres, located east of the business center, were mentioned. All mentioned tracts can be purchased within the maximum amount asked for, according to Edwards.

Edwards was instructed by the board of trustees to secure 120-odd options on the most favorable tracts, if possible.

Water Plan Feared

With the new electric deep well turbine pump recently purchased by the city board of trustees producing 173 inches per minute and the old well producing 100 inches per minute, giving a combined production of 273 inches of water per minute, water conditions for the coming season appear to be well taken care of, according to a report given the city board of trustees by Water Superintendent Richardson yesterday.

Although the new supply of water is slightly harder than the former supply, the difference is not great enough to matter, Richardson said. Due to the rapid draw off of the new pump, Richardson recommended that a 12-foot length of pipe be added to the pipe already installed in the well at a cost of approximately $136. The new length will make the pump depth 216 feet. The purchase of the extra length was ordered by the board.

U. S. AND ENGLISH SCOUTS COMPARED

In response to a petition from property owners along North Olive street from Rose avenue to Walnut avenue, action was taken by the board to have sidewalks and curbs installed within 90 days. A similar action was taken to have a stretch of sidewalk 132 feet long put on property under mortgage to the National Bank of Orange, and located on East Chapman avenue just east of Waverly street.

Pass Weed Ordinance

The ordinance making it possible for the city to clean vacant property of weeds and rubbish and assess the costs to the owners of the property so cleaned, was passed and became effective in 30 days.

The chamber of commerce, represented by V. D. Johnson, secretary, was granted permission to use fire works in connection with the Court of Queen Valencia pageant to be staged in the plaza May 3 and 4. The commerce body was also granted permission to erect a stage across the west entrance to the plaza, and block traffic into the plaza during the time necessary to rehearse and stage the event.

CEREMONIES MARK BEGINNING OF ROAD CONSTRUCTION IN PLACENTIA

$400,000 PAVING PROGRAM IS LAUNCHED IN PLACENTIA; OFFICIALS OF COUNTY SPEAK

PLACENTIA, April 20.—Hundreds of local residents gathered here yesterday afternoon to celebrate the start of construction work on more than 15 miles of paved streets in Placentia. The paving is being done by the Griffith company, Los Angeles, and will cost approximately $400,000.

County supervisors and other Orange county officials were present at the road work celebration, including Willard Smith, William Schumacher, George Jeffrey and John Mitchell. Sam Jernigan, sheriff; Joseph Backs, county clerk, and Nat Neff, county highway superintendent.

Dr. Frank Dowling, well known Placentia resident, opened the celebration with a short prayer. John Tuffree, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce, was the master of ceremonies. The paving program in Placentia was started some time ago by prominent citizens and was worked up to the point where yesterday the contractors in charge of the work were ready to start actual construction. An assessment district was formed for the improvements. There is a total of 1,203.369 square feet of five-inch pavement to be laid and 95,927 square feet of four-inch pavement to be laid. More than 300,000 sacks of cement will be used, according to figures submitted by Thomas Piekerling, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Talks by prominent Placentia citizens and county officials featured the program, following which pictures were taken of the starting of road building activities. Speakers paid tribute to the fine work of the Placentia workers who succeeded in securing the paving program. Tribute also was paid to the progressive spirit of Placentia people, it being declared that not one protest was filed against the paving program. Buses were heaped upon city officials of Placentia and upon members of various chambers of commerce committees assisting in the program. County officials were thanked for their assistance in the matter.

Talks were given by H. O. Easton, president of the Placentia board of city trustees; Ralph Fadden, chairman of the road committee of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce; A. S. Bradford, president of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce; H. H. Hale, pioneer Placentia resident; William Schumacher, chairman of the county board of supervisors; George Jeffrey, county supervisor; Willard Smith, county supervisor; John Mitchell, county supervisor; Nat Neff, county highway superintendent; Sam Jernigan, sheriff of Orange county; Joseph Backs, county clerk, and John Holmstrom, prominent Placentia resident.

Huntington Beach Scoutmasters H. E. Benfield, Guy Reide and Roy F. Patrick, were the hosts of the occasion. The meeting was opened at 6:30 o'clock with a dinner.

Four new members were received into the organization, making a total of 16 charter members already signed up. According to Henry Baldwin, one of the charter members, the remaining nine members needed to receive a charter will be secured by the end of the week, and then the charter will be requested in order that delegates can attend the Lions' annual convention in the near future.

25,000 Cases Of Spinach Canned by Fullerton Plant

FULLERTON, April 20.—The Cutler-Lohinger cannery on South Highland avenue is running to capacity with the canning of spinach, according to Herman L. Dalbey, manager of the Fullerton plant. At the present time there are 110 employees, 80 of them being women, with a weekly payroll of $3000.

Over 25,000 cases of spinach have been canned since the season started five weeks ago, there being two dozen cans to the case. The canned goods represents about 500 tons of produce. The return to the growers averages between $600 and $700 a day, according to the manager.

The spinach season will end about the middle of May, at which time, it is estimated by Dalbey, the total will have reached 50,000 cases.

H. B. CHAMBER CHANGES SEEN; DIRECTOR QUILTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 20.—Reorganization of the local chamber of commerce with the view to securing "new blood" will be the aim of a mass meeting to be held in the near future. J. K. McDonald, a member of the board of directors of the present organization, shot the opening gun at a heated meeting of the local organization Monday, when he resigned as director, hurling charges that the majority of Huntington Beach business men view the chamber of commerce as a closed combination.

He declared that what the officers should do is to step out and invite new men to take over the offices. Little interest has been taken in chamber of commerce activities here for the past several months and several times a quorum has not been present, McDonald said.

According to plans outlined at Monday's session of the chamber of commerce, at least one open meeting will be held each month. Just what the results of the reorganization meeting will be is still a matter of doubt. It is expected that new business men in the city will avail themselves of the opportunity to become affiliated with the organization, and it is also expected that many new officers will be selected.

Public improvements, including the erection of an entrance to the municipal pier, were among other things discussed by the chamber of commerce members. T. B. Talbert, E. G. Conrad and C. P. Patton were appointed on a committee to investigate the pier matter. Directors of the chamber favored a permanent entrance bearing the name of the town. It is expected that the organization will make recommendations regarding the entrance to city trustees in the near future.

William Weeks, representative of the Realty Service bureau, Santa Ana, spoke to members of the chamber, explaining the operations of the bureau.

A report was made by J. A. Armistage, secretary, regarding the presentation of an exhibit in the California Valencia Orange show at Anaheim. The local grammar school is to co-operate with the chamber of commerce in planning and building the exhibit.

Ramirez, an employee of the ranch, was rushed to the Fullerton General hospital in the Seals ambulance where it was found that several ribs were broken and his chest crushed. A report made by the hospital late last evening was that he is resting comfortably.

Ramirez was aiding in the unloading of the tank when the tank fell on him. He resides on the Bastanchury ranch.

Name Lutheran Club Thursday

ORANGE, April 20.—Four possible names for the new organization of men of St. John's Lutheran church were agreed upon at a meeting of the committee last night. The names will be submitted to a general meeting Thursday evening for selection of the one best suited to the new club.

The club is an outgrowth of the Concordia Athletic club. The latter organization was abandoned in favor of the new body because it was felt that it did not have a wide enough appeal to the men of the congregation.

CONGESTION OF COURTS

What California needs in order to secure relief from congestion of courts is a law that requires every judge to sit on the bench at least six hours a day until his calendar is in such shape that he can set cases for trial within 60 days of the time they are ready to be set.

There is a number of counties in California where cases have to be set two years ahead. Los Angeles, in particular, is in that situation. Nearly all of the higher courts of the state are years behind in their work. An appeal to the state supreme court in a civil case means a wait of four or five years for a decision.

Orange county's superior court calendars are in excellent shape. The reason they are is that our judges have been giving good return in time for the pay they get. There is a conscientious effort to attend to the routine work of the court, to accommodate litigants and attorneys, to fill in the gaps caused by dismissal of cases that have been set for trial and the results are appreciable as well as appreciated.

There are superior courts in California, to be sure, that are under-manned. It's our opinion, backed up by reliable information, that congestion in the courts in most of the counties of the state where courts are congested is due more to the dilatory, unbusinesslike habits of the judges than to any other cause. We had almost said "laziness," but we recognize that the word might be regarded as a reflection upon the bench not in keeping with its dignity.

Then, because our judges, in this county, make good use of the hours the courts are supposed to be in session, because, through attendance to the work of the courts, the calendars are in good shape, they likely will be called on by the judicial council to go to Los Angeles or some other county to help get rid of the congestion in those counties.

Bench and bar resent openly and strenuously any intimation that advises the application of the recall to the courts. We are inclined to agree with them in that resentment, but, we ask, who is to blame for the feeling? Any public official, whether he be constable or judge, who does not attend to his job, deserves worse than recall.

MORE MONEY FOR COMMUNITY ADVERTISING

Wonder if newspapers and chambers of commerce and city councils fully realize the importance of Senate bill No. 304, introduced by Senator Chas. Lyon of Los Angeles county, and which has been signed by the governor and will become a law.

This law permits any municipality to appropriate money for advertising purposes. Under the existing law, cities of the sixth class, like Santa Ana, could, by vote of the people, appropriate money for bands, parks, etc. This new law which Senator Lyon has been successful in having enacted, permits any municipality to use city money for publicity or advertising, without submitting the proposition to a vote of the people.

The text of the law follows:

Section 1. The legislative body of any municipal corporation within this state may appropriate, by ordinance, any sum or sums, not to exceed in the aggregate during any fiscal year five cents on each one hundred dollars of assessed valuation, for the purpose of providing a fund to be used for publicity or advertising for such municipal corporation; and the money so appropriated may be used and expended in the manner and for such purpose as shall be set forth in the ordinance making any such appropriation.

Section 2. This act shall be alternative to all other acts giving similar power.

As further indication of liberalizing public policy with respect to community advertising, the Senate has passed Assembly bill No. 1006, by Mr. Reindollar, which increases the amount that county supervisors can levy for advertising from two cents on the $100 valuation to four cents on the $100. If this bill is signed by the governor it will mean a great increase in county advertising funds.

HIS OWN WORDS

An enterprising publisher brings out a little volume consisting of the sermons, stories and conversation of Jesus—his own words just as they have come down to us in the New Testament.

A habitual Bible reader is surprised by the effect this produces on him, and one little familiar with the Bible, still more so. It seems like a new book, says a reader. The words of the Great Teacher come with astonishing vigor and freshness, take an unexpected meaning, seem more practical as applied to present-day life. It is so simple and clear that anyone can understand it.

Can it be that those great utterances have been hindered, rather than helped, by much explanation?

It is a good thing now and then to read the authentic words spoken and written by any great character of history, rather than other people's comment on those words. Washington or Jefferson or Lincoln, for example. Their characters light up, their life-purposes become clear and their example to us grows strong when we take them as their own witnesses.

BUSINESS AND STOCKS

American business this spring is rather peculiar. Some observers say it's good and some say it's bad. The fact seems to be that conditions vary with industries, sections and individuals more than they did last year. Thus opinions often reflect partial views. People can find justification for almost any opinion, good, bad or indifferent, though it is evident that the average is pretty good.

The stock market tells a very different tale. Securities have risen, and there is a steady and growing demand for them. The stocks of many corporations are rising apparently quite out of proportion to their indicated earning power. The investors pay little attention this year to balance sheets. They evidently think that, if stocks are not paying particularly well now, they are going to pay well later on. So we have a bull market, even while some business critics are emitting bearish business reports.

Some of this movement is doubtless due to the plentitude of money for investment in this country, and the easy credit available. But there is more to it than that. The investing public—which is a far larger part of the nation than ever before—evidently expects a renewal of last year's remarkable prosperity, after a slight pause.

There is no evident reason, in fundamental economic conditions, why this should not be the case, and a general belief in good times is a powerful factor in making times good.

Test of Budget in Spending

—San Francisco Chronicle

Governor Young has had pretty much his own way with his budget. We do not think there is any complaint about that. He was very frank about his budget from the beginning, and that frankness rather inclined the people to leave it to him.

He told us that it would be an all-inclusive budget, and it is, as nearly, probably, as one can or need be. That is so good a thing we hope there will never be a reversion to the former partial budgets. And we hope, too, the example will be forcible enough to be followed by the makers of San Francisco's city budgets.

From a complete budget the people can, if they want to, tell precisely how much of their money is being spent on the State's business, and what it is going for. His one large total should have a wholesome effect on legislative appropriators, more so than when a partial budget revealed only a partial total and so lulled lawmakers into believing the State's tax purse fatter than it was.

Governor Young also told us the budget would be bigger than any before. We had become reconciled to that. We had at last realized that a growing state cannot expect to handle a constantly increasing business on the old costs. We may look ruefully at the necessity, but the fact is compelling—the boy can no longer get into that suit big enough for him ten years ago.

The people generally have accepted the Governor's statement that the budget had to be bigger. Understanding the reasons and the necessity, the people will ask now only that the money be spent wisely and with proper economy. They foot the bills. They expect to get value for their money. The test of taxation is not altogether the size of the tax bill, but what you get for it.

The Governor has been frank. His budget is frank. The people, through their representatives, have given it to him. It is now up to him, and all the more clearly because he has made it easier for the people to keep tabs. The spending and its results will be the test.

Edwin Markham

—Oakland Tribune

In 1899 Edwin Markham was principal of a school in Oakland, a man who had written many verses and was winning acclaim as a poet. Those who knew him then were fond of calling at his home and of hearing him read.

This week Oakland entertains Edwin Markham, a dean of poets and one whose work is known to the nation. It welcomes him home with an enthusiasm born of affection and appreciation for it knows that of all places the poet best loves this Pacific Coast "where rolls the ocean."

Bailey Millard, friend of the poet, wrote recently in the Los Angeles Times: "Markham is known all over the world as the man who wrote 'The Man with the Hoe,' but to me he is the man with the heart, for never have I known a being with such deep human sympathy and splendid altruism."

His was both the will and the heart of the poet. It is said that he scribbled verse in his childhood, persisted industriously during those days when he was a student in the normal school at San Jose, kept at it until he achieved greatness.

As the city in which Markham lived for many years, lived as a teacher and a poet, Oakland rejoices in the opportunity to welcome him home again.

Teachers On Probation

—Fresno Republican

The legislature should uphold and reaffirm, if there is any reason to do so, the law under which the appellate court has declared a probationary teacher has no ownership of his or her job.

We have gone quite far enough in making the teacher's position permanent on tenure. As it is now, the permanent teacher can be removed only on charges and trial. An attempt was made, by suit, to establish in California also the right of a probationary teacher to removal only on formal charges.

This would be swinging the pendulum entirely too far in protecting the employee, to the injury of the employer, that is the public. There is no reason why a teacher should not be employed "on approval" just as much as any other person. And if the course of the trial develops temperamental limitations or professional incompetence, it is the duty of the school directors to dismiss.

CANDY IS GOOD FOR YOU UNLESS YOU EAT TOO MUCH OF IT

An official statement from the National Confectioners' Association indicates that 52 per cent of the material used in candy is sugar; the other 48 per cent contains gelatin, corn-starch, corn sirup, molasses, nuts, fruits, eggs, butter, milk, chocolate and similar substances.

The association estimates that the daily per capita consumption of candy in this country is about one good bite a day.

In 1933 the people of the United States spent nearly $390,000,000 for candy, an average of more than $1,000,000 a day. Assuming an average price of 40 cents a pound, the amount used would be nearly one billion pounds of candy in a year.

The only difficulty with the use of candy is the fact that it may replace other articles in the diet. When it does so, it modifies nutrition seriously. It should be eaten at meals in addition to more essential foods but not in place of them. Taken after a meal as dessert, it produces a sensation of satisfaction.

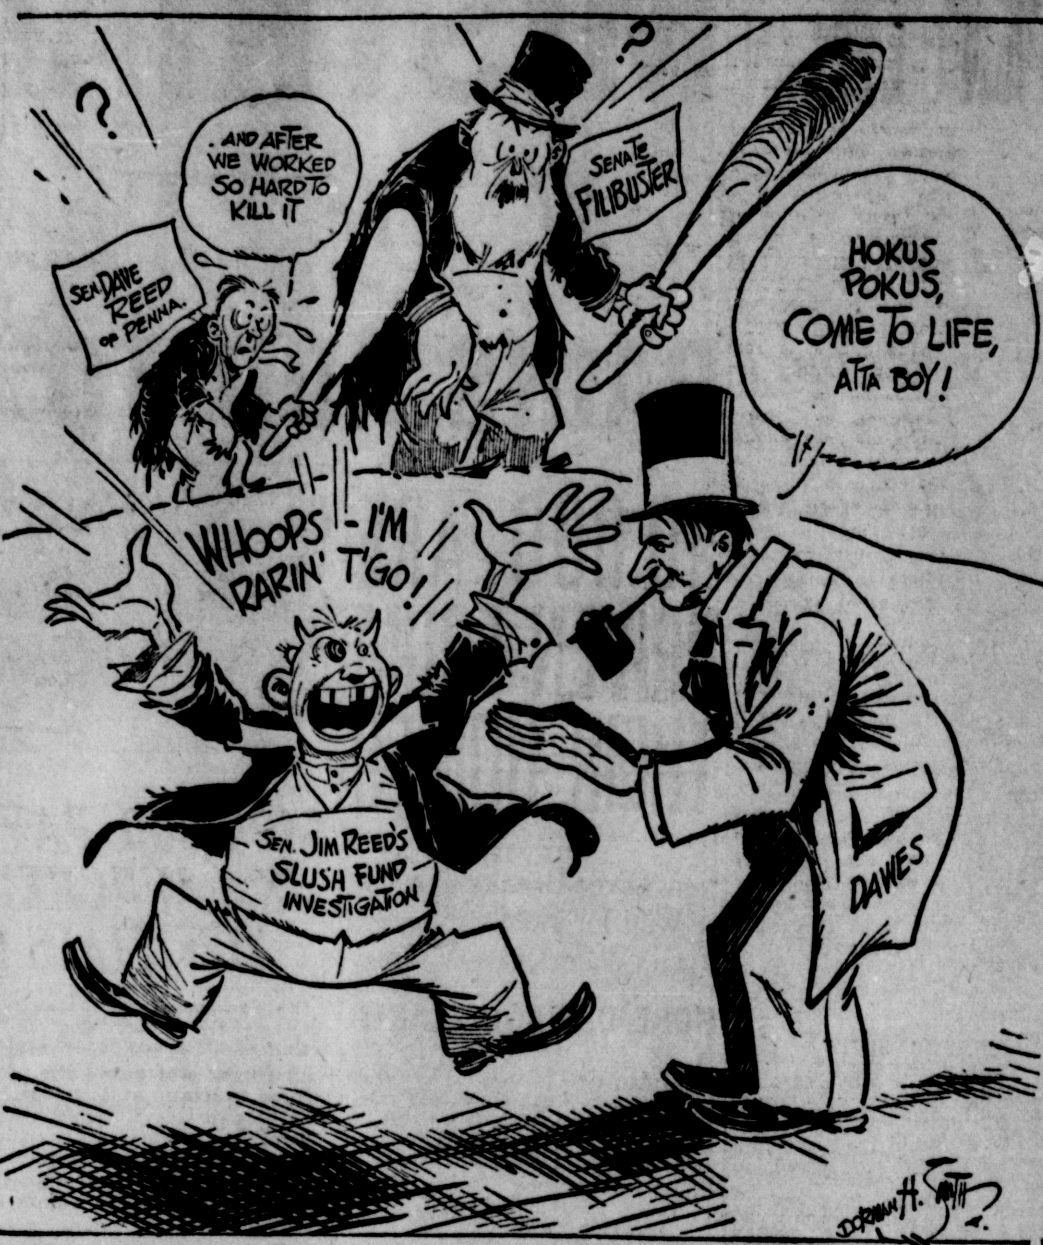

The understanding that candy is a delicacy makes it a usual gift. Children are therefore likely to have more candy than is good for them, since the careless purchaser of presents for the child is likely to select candy as the obvious gift.

The investigators of the action of muscles discovered that the body burns sugar rapidly when one is engaged in any unusual physical activity. Therefore, marathon runners and long distance swimmers have been encouraged to hold sugar candies in the mouth while engaged in such efforts. Candy must be considered as a highly concentrated food that gives energy without bulk.

Used with due regard for its food value and its limitations, it may not only be harmless but actually desirable. When it is taken irregularly and without any consideration as to its actual place in the diet, it may interfere with the appetite, cause a dislike for much needed foods, and be associated with indigestion, irritability, bad teeth and under-nutrition.

It must be realized, however, that candy does not form all of the sugar that is taken in by the body, and that it is no more to be associated with bad teeth than other foods which have a similar effect on the condition of the mouth.

The Miracle Man

Moral Reflections

Those who keep their word live the longest in our trust. Haphazard thought and action do not make for happiness. It is merit alone that counts most in every man's worth today. The only treasure which we cannot be deprived of is the consciousness of doing good work and acting uprightly.

The whole secret of life is to be interested in one thing profoundly and in a thousand other things as well.

When forgiveness is once really established in the heart, it will control our speech as well as our every act and deed.

A cheerful temper, joined with innocence, will make beauty attractive, knowledge delightful, and wit good-natured. Persons given to anger are apt to dwell on the provocation they have received, and to forget the provocation which they gave.

FRIENDSHIP

A ruddy drop of manly blood
The surging sea outweighs;
The world uncertain comes and goes,
The lover rooted stays.
I fancied he was fled,
And, after many a year,
Glowed unexhausted kindness,
Like daily sunrise there:
My careful heart was free again;
O friend, my bosom said,
Through thee alone the sky is arched,
Through thee the rose is red;
All things through thee take nobler form.
And look beyond the earth;
The mill—round of our fate appears
A sun-path in thy worth.
Me, too, thy nobleness has taught
To master my despair;
The fountains of my hidden life
Are through thy friendship fair.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson in "A New Library of Poem and Song."

Some men are born with the big business instinct, and Wilkins was one of them.

"Is he really full of it?" asked the other.

"Full of it?" was the reply. "Why he even refers to his better half as his 50 per cent preferred."—Answers, London.

State Highway Policy

—San Bernardino Sun

After years of stagnation in half to the north and half to the south. This is an important point for San Bernardino county for the Rim of the World highway is the most important secondary highway in the south, and the south has far less mileage of secondary highways than the north.

The reconstruction and maintenance funds—made up of one cent of the three cent tax—will be allocated according to mileage. The remaining one cent will be divided between the counties according to automobile registration. Another bill passed by the senate allots 6 per cent of the revenues for maintenance of highways to elimination of grade crossings. This fund will be supplemented by appropriations from railroads and county governments. The state's share under the bill will be approximately $500,000 per year.

Under the terms of the plan there will be available $10,000,000 from the state for new construction and approximately $2,000,000 from the government for new construction. Thus in a 10 year period $12,000,000 will be expended on new construction. That is sufficient to complete the existing state highway system, including all of the main truck highways, the county seat connections, all of the interstate connections, and the highways to the north.

Undoubtedly there will be some sentiment in Southern California that this end of the state did not secure quite its share—there is a difference of approximately 9 per cent between the north and the south. But it should be remembered there is greater mileage for interstate connections and national park highways in the north. Certainly Southern California is as much interested in these highways as is the north.

In any event, the passage of the bill means that the Old Trails highway will be paved the entire distance to the Colorado river, the Arrowhead Trails will be paved to the Nevada line, the Mecca-Blythe route will be paved to the Colorado river, and there will be available far more money for the improvement of the state highway in the San Bernardino mountains.

The 25 per cent allocated for secondary highways will be divided

Rice

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS.

THE fields in the Orient where rice is grown have been called "Mud Pie Farms."

They are small with a little mud wall to hold the shallow water in the field. The fields are flooded by power furnished by human tread-mills, or buffaloes operating a crude pump. Men, women and children set out the tiny rice plants and weed them by hand. When the grain is ripe the threshing is done by hand beating. Then women and children separate grain from the chaff by shaking it up and down in shallow pans. In this primitive manner 97 per cent of the supply of this most delicious and nourishing grain is given to the world, in a day which we are accustomed to think of as super-mechanical and efficient.

IF Jon were a wee little Japanese baby He'd know how they grow all this lovely white rice, For strapped on his mother he'd watch her set rice plants In fields where the water is shallow and nice.

He'd know how it ripened and grew in the sunshine Then watch the plants gathered and rice pounded out He'd see it all sorted and packed for the market While Japanese mamma sang softly about

"Oh, Wee Japanese-ess Have cunning fat knees-ess And a hair cut that looks Like a little black hat. It's rice white and pearly, It's rice late and early, That makes Japanese-ess So cuddly and fat!"
